Weak Heart? Beware!
100,000,000 Years Hence.
The Oil War.
A Boomless City.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

IF YOU have any tendency to heart disease, don't speculate in radio stock. When the exchange opened yesterday, the ticker said, radio is worth $175." A few minutes later it said, "radio is worth $196.50." A few minutes later it said, "Radio is worth $178."

When the exchange closed, the ticker said, "Radio is worth $157."

WHEN a young hero in the Navy wanted to marry David Warfield's stage daughter, in old Weber and Field days, Warfield said, "a hero; that's not a business."

You might say that of buying radio.

A STOCK gambling craze afflicts England also, with business "not so good." The explanation will interest our speculators.

Britons speculate on "new enterprises," on big profits from the thing not done yet or not done thoroughly.

They realize that real wealth is in human ingenuity and are gambling in the intelligence of men. Not such a bad risk.

BISHOP RICHARDSON of Georgia asks his Methodist Episcopal congregation, "what are you going to be doing 100,000,000 years from tonight?" and reminds them that 100,000,000 years is only the beginning of eternity.

MANY have asked themselves that question, wondering if doing nothing, no marrying or giving in marriage, no engaging in any business or making inventions does not become tiresome at the end of 100,000,000 years or a billion million years.

Mr. Richardson says we are not going to be idle. Good news for the ambitious.

COMMERCIAL war never ends. John Bull and Uncle Sam now fight for control of the world's oil supply.

John Bull goes about the thing intelligently. Everywhere in the British empire water power is being developed, especially in Canada. Even in England they plan to use tide power at the mouth of the Severn. The more electric power used the less use of oil.

HERE we seek new ways to burn up our oil, allowing a chosen few to monopolize the water power.

However, when our oil is burned up, the government will have to do something about our water power. That's one comfort.

MERCHANTS in smaller towns consider this: Ferry boats and railroad lines carried in 1927 to New York City 365,317,243 passengers.

Think what that means in spending power.

New York is one city that has never had a real estate boom. No boom would be big enough to tell the facts.

Millions visit New York, where their wives take the cure in the shops. And those visitors while in New York live and spend their money in a small part of Manhattan bounded by Thirty-fourth and Fifty-ninth streets, Eighth and Third avenues.

In those few blocks of stores and hotels New York business men skim the cream from Uncle Sam's financial milk pan.

How much will a really good New York corner be worth 50 years hence?

THE Rev. Dr. Straton says an angel saved his wife's life by snatching open the door of an automobile in an accident.

Nobody can deny that statement. The Bible tells of miracles more wonderful and of angels sent on special errands.

BUT some will wonder why the angels miss so many opportunities to do the same thing for humble wives and their children burnt alive in tenement houses, or for workmen caught and ground up in machinery.

Possibly Dr. Straton could impress on some of the angels the fact that "playing favorites" is considered unsportsmanlike in 1928.

NICHOLAS LONGWORTH, who might be nominated by the Republicans, asks Senator Borah, in substance, "why don't you ask candidates how much THEY drink, instead of asking them what they think about drinking?" Mr. Longworth says he has never known a public man to refuse a drink. That is only slight exaggeration.

THE youthful Ralph Pulitzer, Jr., and W. Seward Webb III, drove their automobiles in friendly competition 752 miles in one day, from Kingstree, S. C., to Manhasset, Long Island. How fast will men go in future, on perfect roads, with no crossroads? And how slow 752 miles a day will seem when men fly 500 miles an hour.

YOU are less surprised at the foolishness of men who bet on what they don't understand when you read about Frederick Cretkovich's money box. He filled a box with $1 notes, turned a crank, opened the box and showed the $1 notes changed into $20 notes. Cretkovich, who sold a good many of the boxes, must go to jail now.

Josef Hofmann, noted pianist and director of Curtis Institute of Music, Philadelphia, married the former Miss Betty Short, New York girl, shortly after he was divorced from his first wife four years ago and the wedding has been kept a secret until now. Out of consideration for his first wife and daughter, Josefa, 21, a sculptress, less than a year younger than his wife, he kept the wedding from the public. The new Mrs. Hofmann is almost 22 and Hofmann is 52.

S. R. O. AT TRIAL OF MRS. BOVE

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Angeline Bove, on trial for the murder of her husband, Alfonso Bove, killed last September 29, does not look like a scared little girl today. Her entire personality seems to have changed over night. Yesterday she fought hysterics, and it looked like a loosing battle.

Tight-lipped, white-faced—with red blotches showing from underneath the skin—it is as though she had cried herself out and decided to let fate and the law take its course. Angeline looks firm as the rock of Gibraltar. Only in the twisting of her black-bordered handkerchief—mourning weeds for the husband she is charged with killing—is there any evidence of fear or worry.

Court was crowded and the S. R. O. sign was out. The corridors were a-buzz too. Minute by minute the interest increased—and the curiosity. Folks are like that. And it is really remarkable to those who have to sit in on a murder trial that anyone will go when he don't have to attend.

MORBID HUMANS

Morbid human beings. When they sit and grin and chew gum as they do—there is a question sometimes as to whether they are quite human after all. But such is life!

"He shot himself," Mrs. Bove cried as she ran into the home of W. W. Harper, of Oil City, Pa., formerly of 7012 Agnew street, next door to the Bove home, the night of the shooting, Harper testified. He was billed as the commonwealth's star witness.

"I went to the Bove home with Mrs. Bove," testified Harper. "She kept saying, 'You did it,' and Bove said, 'No I [illegible]n't, you did.'"

Joseph E. Crock, of 7020 Agnew street, also a neighbor, testified that he took Bove to the hospital

PGH. COAL FOR 'WAR TO END'

"THE policy of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is to continue to operate its mines efficiently on the OPEN SHOP BASIS."—From letter of President J. D. A. Morrow to "OUR MEN."

Continued restlessness among the non-union miners of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is disclosed in a new circular letter to the men from President J. D. A. Morrow. It is one of several that he has sent out in recent weeks to allay fears and promote morale.

Morrow's latest epistle is ostensibly intended to assure the employes that the Pittsburgh Coal Company never again will operate on a union basis. Notwithstanding that the union wage scale is much higher than the scale the company now is paying, one of the miners, according to Morrow, has asserted he would not work in a union mine. With that as an excuse, the Pittsburgh Coal Company president repeats the oft-made statement that it will stick to its open shop policy.

THE LETTER

The letter follows:

Hunt Autoist In Girl's Death

International News Service

CLEVELAND, April 3.—Working on the theory that Alice Leonard, 15-year-old school girl, met death while resisting an attack, police and county authorities today were seeking a motorist who is said to have approached several schoolmates of the girl, whose body was found late yesterday in a field near Mayfield Heights School, after she had been missing for more than two months.

The Leonard girl was last reported seen in the evening of January 28, last, when she started for a basketball game. Investigators advanced the belief that she had accepted an offered "lift" of a passing motorist, possibly a "gas-hawk," and afterward, becoming frightened, had either leaped or was thrown from the moving car, striking her head on the pavement. The motorist then picked up the body and carried it into the field, according to this belief.

Coroner A. J. Pearse said the girl had been killed by a blow which crushed the right side of her skull.

The girl had been dead many weeks, probably since the evening of her disappearance, police declared. Her body was discovered by Bernard Perk, 17, high school student, who, with several companions, was engaging in baseball practice. Face upward, and fully clothed, although her hat and coat were missing, the body lay in weeds which had been crushed down and matted by rain and sleet. A red dress worn at the time of her disappearance had been rotted by snow and rain.

MELLON CHOPS TAX

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today recommended a maximum tax reduction of $201,000,000 to Congress, a decrease of $25,000,000 from his proposal last October.

Appearing before the Senate Finance Committee today, Mellon declared that his "top" cut is based upon appropriations already made. Should Congress appropriate $30,000,000 for flood relief Mellon said the maximum reduction would be reduced to $181,115,000.

Increased expenditures and not revenue losses were responsible for

WALL AFIRE FALLS, KILLS TWO

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 3.—Two volunteer firemen lost their lives and two were injured battling a $50,000 blaze here today.

Bodies of Cecil Lilly, 18, of Brookside, and of Paul Trouten, 21, of Bridgeport, were taken from the ruins of walls that toppled after they had entered the burning Hal-Webster grocery.

Fire Chief Charles Cook, of Bridgeport, and Arthur Knelinger, 17, of Brookside, were cut by falling debris.

The Belmont county courthouse and the residence of Sheriff Clyde Hardesty were threatened with destruction.

The fire originated in the basement of the grocery store, a two-story frame structure, and spread to the two-story building used as the waiting room and office of the Red Star Bus Line. John B. Urgey, who lives on the second floor of the waiting room, was forced to the street and he sounded the alarm.

BOY SHOT DEAD AND ROBBERY FOILED

The plans of three youths to steal a huckster's fruit supply ended tragically in Brackenridge early today when one was shot dead and his companions arrested.

Stanislaus Olkowski, 18, of West Natrona, was found in an alley, his head and neck riddled by buckshot. He was dead when police found him at 6 o'clock, four hours after he had been shot.

His companions, arrested this morning, admitted, detectives said, that the three had tried to climb through a window into the garage where Frank DiGerolamo, 34, produce dealer, kept his fruit.

County Detective Edward Weber said DiGerolamo at first denied the shooting, but that his wife had admitted that two shots were fired at the three after she had heard noises in their yard.

SHOT TO SCARE

DiGerolamo today before District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner and county detectives made this statement:

"We were in bed. The baby cried and my wife said somebody is trying to get in. We got dressed and I got my shotgun. I opened the door and fired the gun. I thought I fired it in the air. I did not intend to hit anybody. I saw two boys running away after the shot. I only wanted to scare them. I did not know there was a third boy. After they ran away my wife and I went back to bed. We tried to get the police when we first heard the noise, but they did not answer. Before we went to bed again we finally got the police and told them about it. When the police came and found the dead boy, I told them I did not shoot anybody. I did not want to go to jail. I did not know I had shot anybody. They were trying to break in and I only shot to scare them off."

DiGerolamo is said to have a good reputation in the community in which he lives. His story that the shooting was accidental is believed in the district attorney's office. He will be released on bail and held to await the action of the coroner's inquest.

Detectives said they had found a shotgun in the DiGerolamo home and arrested him when he returned from work.

Olkowski's companions were John Ozimek, 19, and John Bieack, 20, of West Natrona. They were arrested after two other pals of Olkowski, taken soon after the shooting, were released when they satisfied detectives that they had left Olkowski at midnight.

Mrs. DiGerolamo told detectives that she summoned her husband after she had heard the noises and that from the rear porch he had fired.

after the shooting, accompanied by Mrs. Bove.

"Why did you do it?" Bove asked his wife, Crock testified.

"Why do you ask me that? You know you did it yourself," the wife replied, according to Crock.

FIXED STARE

While Assistant District Attorney Haggerty told the jury what the commonwealth would prove, Angeline did not take her eyes from his back. He did not ask for her life. She followed every move today as though she were a member of the jury or a lawyer.

Babbling in their baby way, her two little boys, Jose, 2, and Alfonse, 4, sat in the front row and played. Jose knows his mamma is there and several times tried to attract her attention with a subdued "Ma-ma." Every once in a while his little face took on a puzzled expression as he wondered more and more why mamma didn't turn around and smile at him.

The babies were there when they brought Angeline in this morning, but she did not see them—nor smile. Her head was low and she went straight to her chair at the table and sat down. Again the commonwealth lawyers were heard discussing the play of sympathy in having the Bove kiddies where the jury could see them and hear their childish prattle.

"Malice aforethought, wilful, deliberate and premeditated murder," Attorney Haggerty told the jury, and it sounded convincing. He has that sort of manner. One would not like to have him on the "other side," for he seems an intelligent lawyer and a good talker.

Attorney Charles Prichard did not appear worried. He smiled quite often, and when there was a friendly tiff between the two lawyers they took on severe expressions first, and then sort of smiled afterwards in the general direction of the other as much as to say:

"This is business. Too bad we can't shake hands just yet."

"You did it," the wife charged her husband. "No, you did it," the husband retorted, in presence of neighbors, Haggerty told the jury.

"On his death bed, this man made a statement accusing his wife of shooting him," the prosecutor declared.

OPEN SHOP POLICY

superintendent, if we intend to stick to our open shop policy. This man said he wanted to know because he would not work in a union mine. I have just written him a letter to answer his question. You may have read stories in the newspapers or been told things that make you wonder what we intend to do, so I am writing to each of you, what I wrote to him:

"'This company will stick to open shop operation of its mines. We will not have anything to do with the United Mine Workers of America. Like yourself, we are so much better satisfied with open shop mines that nobody will persuade us again to go back to the old conditions. We have gone open shop for good.

"'Last Thursday Mr. Warden, the chairman of our board of directors, was in Washington at the hearing of the Senate committee. He was there as a witness to tell the Senate committee what we intended to do. Senators Gooding and Wheeler were at the table and John Lewis was in the room. Mr. Warden said to the senators:

"'The policy of the Pittsburgh Coal Company is to continue to operate its mines efficiently on the open shop basis.'

"'Today our stockholders, at their annual meeting, passed a resolution approving our conduct of the business. Therefore, if anyone tells you that we are going back to union operation, they either do not know what they are talking about or else are trying to deceive you. Our running time has not been as good the last two weeks as we would like to have it. This is due to warm weather and to some of our customers using up coal they have on hand. However, we will soon have the mines running steadily, practically every day. You can therefore count on steady work with us under open shop conditions.'

"'I will be glad if you will pass this word on to any of the other men who may not fully understand our intentions."

TERMINAL CO., TOO

The following notice has been posted at the mines of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation:

"This company will run open-shop after April 1st, just as it has for the past year.

"Don't be fooled by Union lies that a settlement with the Union will be made. No such settlement will be made.

"If any Union agitators bother you with stories of a settlement, please notify me and I shall have such persons arrested for trespass."

The notice is signed by the superintendent of each mine at which it is posted.

The United Mine Workers report that an unestimated number of strike-breakers of the Pittsburgh Coal Company went on strike yesterday.

'FIRST DEGREE' ASKED FOR BOY, 14, IN MURDER TRIAL

NERVOUS AS CASE OPENS

The wheels of justice stopped today while Robert Stevens, 14, youngest prisoner to have his life placed in jeopardy in Allegheny county, ate breakfast.

A jury was chosen yesterday to try Stevens, who is charged with having aided Alvin Hess kill an unidentified man near Browns Bridge last September. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff was ready to begin the trial today when it was reported the youthful prisoner had not had breakfast. The boy said he was too nervous to eat in the jail. A recess of 10 minutes was ordered while coffee and sandwiches were served the prisoner in an ante room.

Mrs. Elizabeth Stevens, mother, and Esther Stevens, 18, sister, were barred from greeting the son and brother in court today. The sister collapsed and was removed from court.

LIMIT ASKED

During the reading of the indictment and the delivery of the opening address of Assistant District Attorney F. P. Langfitt, the boy twitched, and showed extreme nervousness.

The district attorney asked for a first degree verdict, but did not mention the punishment. Five women and seven men were on the jury.

It took the entire first day yesterday to select the jury, the prospective jurymen being examined by Langfitt and Attorneys William H. Coleman and Gertrude Friedlander, counsel for Stevens. Wilson Wise, of Fawn township, the jury foreman, was selected shortly after noon, and the final member of the panel was not picked until shortly before 5 o'clock.

The young defendant sat at the counsel table with head bowed and his eyes filled with tears on occasions when Attorney Langfitt mentioned the death penalty in questioning the jurors. Since his indictment the boy has been confined to the Juvenile Detention Home in Forbes street, but last night he was taken to the county jail.

TAX CUT URGED BY MELLON

Mellon's change of position from last October, he said.

OPPOSES AUTO TAX REPEAL

Mellon opposed repeal of the automobile tax. He said the demand for this repeal comes not from automobile purchasers but from manufacturers and dealers, who "have organized an intensive propaganda and of necessity do not look at our tax problem as a whole, but concentrate on one tax which they believe affects their own interests."

"Tax reduction on the basis of meeting the demands of special interests inevitably leads to serious maladjustments of the burdens," Mellon declared. "The federal government cannot afford to see its tax system resting on too narrow a base."

Opposition likewise was expressed to the principle of graduated corporation taxes, Mellon remarking that there is no sound justification for such procedure. He added that the adoption of a graduated corporation tax will lead back to the excess profits tax which, "impossible of administration and generally discredited, was repealed in 1921."

EXPENDITURES GAIN

Based upon latest Treasury figures the 1928 surplus will be $400,000,000 and that of 1929, $212,000,000, according to Mellon. The estimate of the 1929 surplus last October was $252,540,283.

Expenditures show an increase of $47,000,000 for 1928 and $85,000,000 for 1929. The 1928 increase was brought about by the alien property bill and that of 1929 by heavier appropriations for the Veterans' Bureau, Navy and War departments, postal deficiency and enlarged building program.

Mellon estimated receipts for 1928 at $4,065,000,000. Income tax receipts for the year were figured at $2,170,000,000, about $55,000,000 less than last year. Total receipts for 1929 were figured at $3,854,721,000 and expenditures at $3,642,021,000 without considering flood relief.

In discussing back tax collections Mellon disclosed that the government is winning but 41 per cent of the cases taken to the Board of Tax Appeals.

BREAKDOWN THREATENED

"There is no use minimizing the seriousness of this situation," Mellon added. "It is not too much to say that the whole, carefully thought-out machinery, which was hopefully set up in 1924, is threatened with a complete breakdown.

"In spite of work by the advisory committee in the last six months 60 per cent of the deficiencies of tax asserted were appealed. There were pending before the board 21,381 cases March 1. Working with utmost expedition the board can only dispose of about 3,000 cases a year except by stipulation."

Mellon said that to dispose of disputed tax cases a change of policy appears desirable. The Treasury will adopt a new course unless the Finance and Ways and Means Committee advise to the contrary.

"A sensible system of administration would permit the settlement of cases whenever the odds on a question of law are all against the Treasury, instead of compelling litigation," Mellon said.

Dies on Eve Of Premiere

GEORGIA O'RAMEY

Miss O'Ramey, prominent actress, died last night in a New Haven Hotel, three hours before she was to appear as leading lady in the initial showing of "Nize Girl." Her death was attributed to heart failure.

WOMAN SEIZED; PURSE STOLEN

Screams of Mrs. T. H. McDonough of 4926 Glenwood avenue frightened away a Negro who seized her last night while she was descending steps from the Beoulevard of the Allies to the South Tenth Street Bridge. As the footpad fled he snatched her purse containing $6.

Mrs. McDonough was walking alone when the Negro approached her from the rear. Without saying anything he seized her. Mrs. McDonough told detectives that her assailant was about 19. She said that he wore a lumberjack shirt.

PRISONER DIES IN CELL

Arrested last night for drunkenness, David Currin, 48, of "city," was found dead in his cell in Central Police Station at 5:10 o'clock this morning. It was reported to the morgue that death probably was due to acute alcoholism.

Gallivan Found Dead

International News Service.

BOSTON, April 3.—Representative James Gallivan, prominent South Boston Democrat and one of the outstanding opponents of prohibition in the country, died today at a sanitarium in Arlington Heights. It was stated that he was found dead in bed.

Word of his death had been in circulation for hours before it was confirmed.

Representative Gallivan had been a member of Congress from the South Boston district for 14 years and on an average of twice every years rumors that he was dead swept the city. Today's report was at first thought to be unfounded like those of the past.

The cause of death was not given but was understood to be heart trouble. It was stated at the Ring Sanitarium, Arlington Heights, that the Congressman had been a patient there for only a few hours when he was found dead in bed.

Congressman Gallivan was 61.

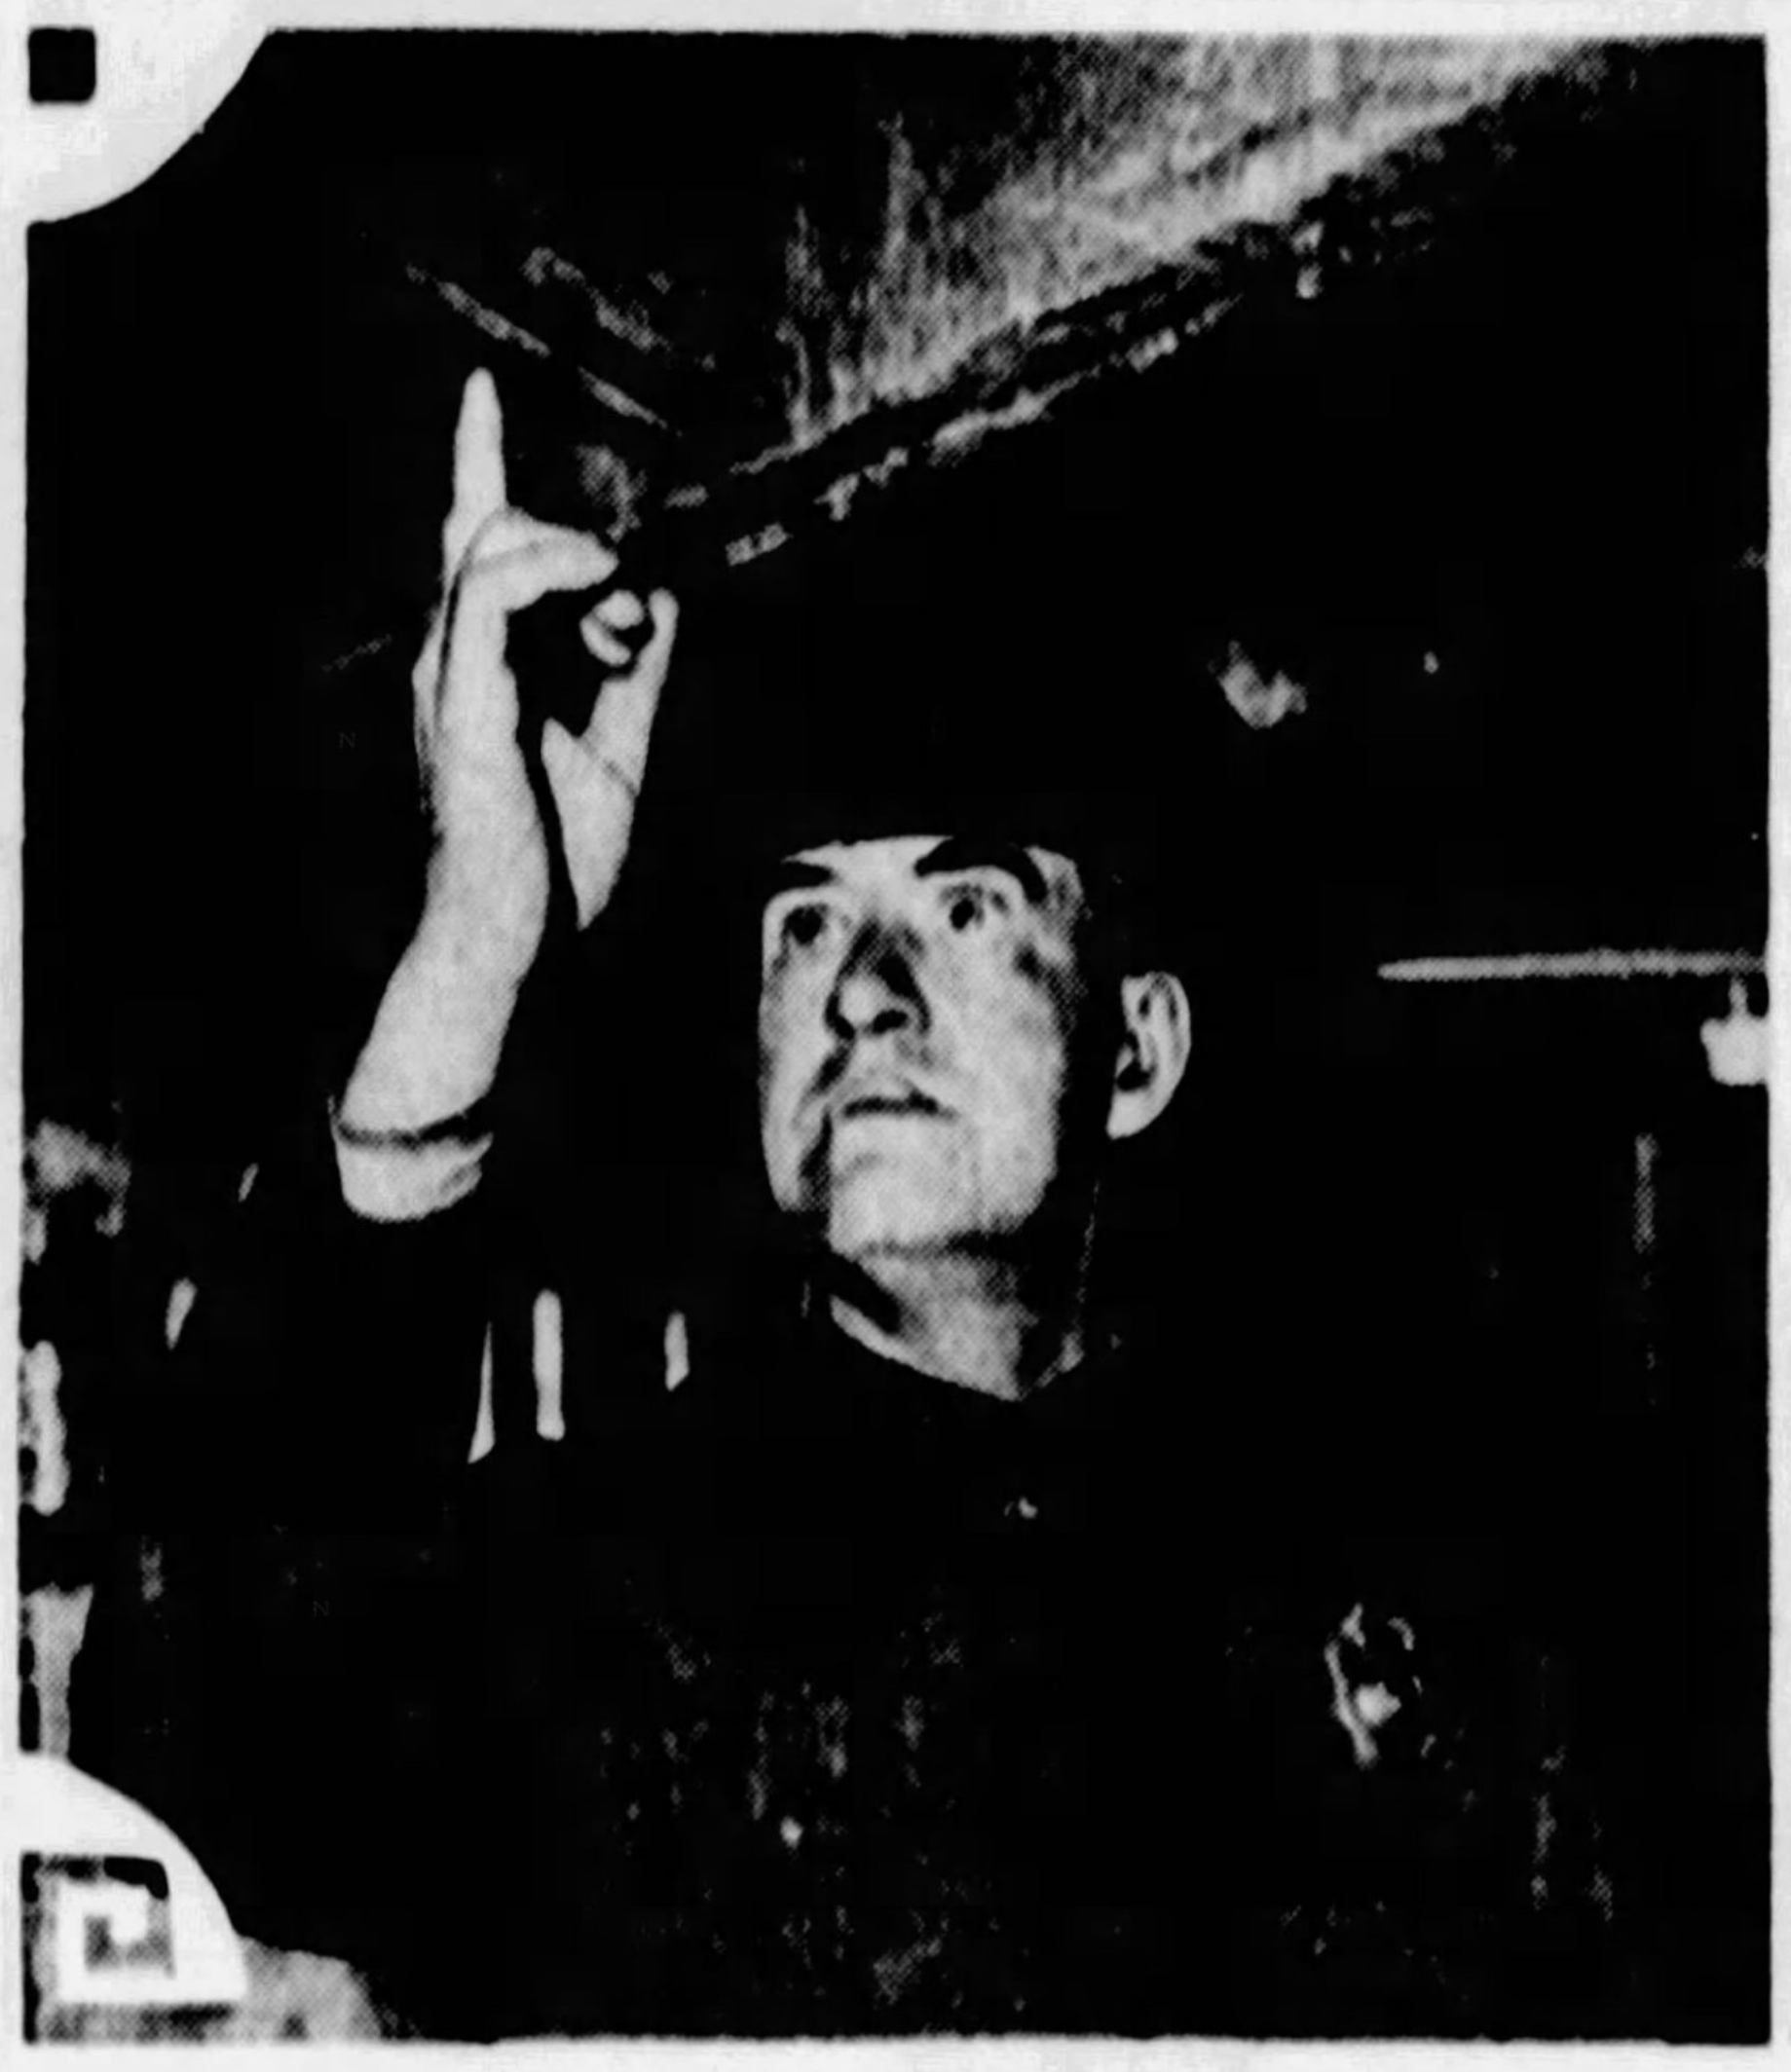
HARDING TOLD TEAPOT DOME OIL BIDS BARRED

Hangs Self, School Mourns

JUSTICE OF PEACE HELD IN EXTORTION RING PLOT



THE CELLAR RAFTER

The lifeless body of Alfred Oliver, 15-year-old high school boy of United, Mt. Pleasant township, was found hanging to this rafter, pointed to by Officer Joseph Nugent, coal and iron policeman. Nugent, who found the body, worked half an hour trying to revive the lad.

SCHOOL CLOSES

Because Alfred Oliver was an exceptionally apt pupil and popular, his school, Hurst High School, Mt. Pleasant township, was closed yesterday to enable the students to attend the boy's funeral. Hundreds of neighbors, even from surrounding towns, crowded about the home of the boy's stepfather, Joseph Janiga, to pay tribute to the youth. (Inset) Alfred Oliver, the much-liked and brilliant lad who hanged himself.

THE HOUSE OF SADNESS

No motive could be given by family or friends of young Oliver. Some say he was over-imaginative. Others declared he read too many sensational novels. But all insist the boy was normal, healthy, popular and exceptionally bright. Afred's mother thought he was chopping wood in the backyard. She found he had gone to the cellar and locked the door.

DECLARES OIL BIDS BARRED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News service.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The late President Harding was advised 13 days after Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall leased Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair that other oil companies had been barred from bidding for the huge naval oil reserve in Wyoming.

This was revealed today at the Senate oil inquiry by Birch Helms, of Fort Worth, Tex., vice president of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company. Helms produced a copy of a telegram sent Harding April 20, 1922, asking a conference and telling how his company had been given no chance to bid for Teapot Dome, although previously promised an opportunity.

HOOVER ALSO TOLD

Helms also notified Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, former Secretary of War John W. Weeks and former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty that his company had been refused a chance to bid for Teapot Dome. To all three, Helms wired that he had just telegraphed the President a protest and added:

"If you are interested, hope you will discuss matter with the President."

The wire to Harding said:

"Have just been advised by Secretary Fall that this matter is closed. However feel that my company should have had opportunity to have made a bid upon it as we requested such an opportunity six months ago and were then advised by both the Interior and Navy departments that developenent proposition would not be considered for a very long time and furthermore we requested same opportunity a few weeks ago and then understood we would have such an opportunity to submit a competitive bid."

Christian A. Herter, assistant to Hoover, replied to the wire sent the secretary of commerce. He wrote Helms, under date of May 1, 1922, that:

"I notice in your wire to Mr. Hoover that you state that the arrangements in regard to Teapot Dome had been approved by Mr. Hoover and I wish to advise you that Mr. Hoover at no time had any knowledge of any arrangements that were pending in this connection."

WEEKS SIDESTEPS ISSUE

Secretary Weeks, in replying April 21, 1922, said:

"No doubt President will give you hearing. For good reasons cannot become involved in controversy."

Helms also wired George B. Christian, Harding's secretary, who told him the President could not grant him an interview on days suggested. Christian suggested that Helms take the matter up with Fall.

"In any event, the matter to which you refer," Christian wrote, "seems to be one which should come to the President through the Secretary of the Interior and I suggest, therefore, that you confer with Secretary Fall on the subject."

There was no reply from Harding or from Daugherty, said Helms.

PRIZES AWARDED IN ESSAY CONTEST

GWENDOLYN MARSHFIELD

JOHN HUFNAGLE

Gwendolyn Marshfield won second prize of $15 when awards were made in the Carnegie Institute prize essay contest for eighth grade pupils of the city's public and parochial schools. She lives at 3377 McClure avenue and attends John Morrow School. John Hufnagle won second prize, the same amount, for the parochial schools. He attends Holy Innocents School and lives at 2783 Bergman street.

Each essay dealt with the writer's favorite object in the museum and painting in the fine arts department. The majority of the prizes were won by girls. Following the awards, a motion picture showing was given in Carnegie Music Hall.

MOTHER'S FOOTSTEPS

Catherine Armstrong, now Mrs. W. F. Wirth, 317 Elysian street, won a prize in an Institute essay contest in 1898. Now her daughter Dorothy, 12, above, has won fourth prize of $5. Dorothy's treatise was entitled "Pennsylvania Deer."

PROBE CITY SALE 'FAVORITISM'

Scrap iron for which the United Iron and Metal Company claims to have offered $865 was sold for $162 by the city Department of Public Works, according to figures made public today at the office of Controller John H. Henderson.

Although the sale is said to have occurred February 22, the Controller's office did not receive a report until a few minutes before closing time yesterday. This sale and others are to be investigated by Council at a hearing tomorrow afternoon.

The investigation was ordered when J. P. McCann, secretary of the United Iron and Metal Company, sent a letter to Council charging that he had bid $865 for 36,000 pounds of iron and steel at the filtratoin plant, had been informed the material had been sold privately and had been unable to find any record of the transaction in the Controller's office.

The report sent from the Department of Supplies late yesterday is headed "report for day ending April 2." It shows that the material was sold to Joseph Mallinger for $162. The same report shows that Mallinger purchased a quantity of scrap iron at the asphalt plant for $192.

TRAINMEN ESCAPE INJURY

SOHO COMMUNITY HOUSE TO CLOSE

Soho Community House, its building condemned as a fire hazard, has been ordered vacated May 1. Without funds to rent other quarters, the board of directors has decided to abandon a social work which for 21 years has been outstanding in community welfare service in Pittsburgh.

It means that more than 1,000 children will be deprived of a branch of the Carnegie Library, free dental clinic, direction of the Public Health Nursing Association and supervised play, and will be left with no playground except the congested streets and the sheer hillsides, according to the Community House directors.

Petitions signed by 250 residents of the neighborhood were sent to the board imploring that the work be continued. Headed by Miss Agnes Poole, the workers at the Soho Community House live in the quarters and the people regard them as their close neighbors and friends to whom they turned in times of need and sorrow as well as in seeking recreation, instruction and in directing the children's welfare.

The maintenance budget of $15,000 can be obtained, but the stumbling block came in providing a building. In the immediate district are several structures which are said to be available, and it has been urged that initiative by the board and the assistance of a few people would result in saving the institution.

The constables, held for court last week, are Frank Hartz, constable for Squire Ranshaw; J. U. Gro constable for Squire W. J. Burns Clinton, and Ray Bengle, consta for Squire Gilbert Martin, of Gl field.

EL TOWER CONDEMNED IN NEIGHBORS' PLAINT

CHARGE REVELRY IN APARTMENT

Members of the Squirrel Hill Board of Trade, protesting against the existence of the El Tower cabaret in the El Tower apartment hotel, Munhall road, last night heard the report of a private detective hired by residents of the district to watch proceedings in the hotel. The report was read by W. R. Work, of Munhall road, who was introduced by W. N. Smith, spokesman for a number of residents.

The report alleged drunken men and women were seen in the apartment hotel lobby last Wednesday night and that drinking was noticeable in the dining room that evening while a dance was in progress.

W. Don Harrison, director of Athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, also spoke in protest against the cabaret, but said he would not go into detail because of the women present at the meeting. The matter was referred to the Municipal Affairs Committee by Frank L. Duggan, president of the board.

Before the meeting closed David H. Stern, proprietor of the apartment, arrived. When he learned of the report he said he would take action against all who had anything to do with it.

The matter of granting the cabaret a permit was taken to City Council by a delegation from Squirrel Hill. It was charged by the residents that Director James M. Clark of the Public Safety Department granted the permit last Wednesday after he had promised the residents that he would keep the cabaret closed. City Council will meet with the delegation tomorrow afternoon at which time the director has been ordered to appear.

Blindfolded ... in scientific test of leading Cigarettes, Princess Paul Chavchavadze selects OLD GOLD

"I was much intrigued by the invitation to make a blindfold test of your leading brands of American cigarettes, to see how they compared with each other and with those I had smoked abroad. Could one really taste the difference? I wondered.

"But when I was handed these cigarettes, one by one, I realized at once that there was a difference and that the test was conclusive. One cigarette was so much more appealing, so much more delicate in flavor. Oh, and so much smoother!

"When the test was over and I was told that the cigarette of my choice was OLD GOLD I understood at once why this cigarette is so popular among my American friends."

How Test Was Made

Subject was blindfolded, and, in the presence of two responsible witnesses, was given one each of the four leading cigarettes to smoke. To clear the taste, coffee was served before each cigarette. The Princess was entirely unaware of the identity of these cigarettes during test. After smoking the four cigarettes, the Princess was asked to designate by number her choice. Without hesitation she replied, "No. 3" ... which was OLD GOLD.

OLD POINT SPAN WEAKNESS BARED

The city of Pittsburgh is fortunate in that a collapse of the old Point Bridge did not result in a catastrophe, Public Works Director Edward G. Lang informed Council today in a communication in which he requested $77,500 for needed repairs to the Smithfield Street and Manchester bridges.

The director revealed that, after the Point Bridge had been razed, two eyebars were sent to the American Bridge Company for tests which revealed unexpected weakness.

The Smithfield Street Bridge, he wrote, is a vital part of the traffic situation and until that problem is solved it would be inadvisable to raze the bridge, even if funds were available. He asked $33,000 for reflooring and other repairs to be done by the city forces and $26,500 for strengthening the trusses and other structural repairs to be done by contract. He asked $18,000 for the Manchester Bridge and the Duquesne way ramp.

John Hynes, of 1108 Fayette street, and Fred Montgomery, 45, of Eleventh avenue, Homestead, narrowly escaped serious injury last night when their automobiles collided in Bigelow boulevard near Herron avenue. Both were removed to the West Penn Hospital where it was found they had suffered only slight injuries, although both machines were wrecked. The drivers were arrested on reckless driving charges.

NEWSPAPER ADS WIN PRAISE OF MINISTERS

Church advertising pays and the daily newspaper is the best medium. This was the opinion expressed by ministers and laymen at the annual luncheon sponsored by the International Advertising Association, at the Chamber of Commerce today. It was also the weekly meeting of the Pittsburgh Advertising Club and President Robert E. Grove presided.

Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of Shadyside Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker. He expressed himself as enthusiastically in favor of proper advertising for the church, but raised a word of caution against sensationalism and bad taste. He favored enterprise, but pointed out that misdirected energy sometimes defeats the ends it strives to attain.

Pittsburgh advertising men answered a series of questions on the subject which had been propounded to the club by Pittsburgh clergymen. In a word, they advised advertising in the daily newspapers by denominations or community groups in order that the largest possible effective space be obtained. Maintaining a high standard of the quality of its product, it was pointed out, is an important factor with the church, as with a business concern.

Those who answered the questions were C. E. Hilborn, William Cohen, F. W. Pennington, E. K. Price, E. W. Simons, Ernest L. Giles, H. Briggs, Jr., E. M. Power, J. C. McQuiston and H. V. Jamison.

100 ROBBERIES ADMITTED

John Holly, 26, a Negro, of 29 Miller street early today, police say, admitted taking part in more than 100 robberies of taxi drivers. He is being held in the Center Avenue Police Station. The alleged confession was made with but little questioning, the prisoner being willing to talk, according to police.

Holly was arrested by Lieut. Frank Shine of the Center Avenue Police Station on a description given by Isaac Brusky, a cab driver of 1226 Colwell street. Brusky complained to police that he had been robbed of $5 last Monday night.

ASKS $10,000 IN ARREST

Austin J. McInerney, of 1150 Greenfield avenue, today filed a $10,000 damage suit against Patrolmen Martin O'Toole and Tom Lyons for balm to sooth the humiliation and abuse he said he had suffered at their hands. McInerney said that, without reason, he was arrested on March 19 and taken from one police station to another "without just cause."

NAMES DENTIST, GETS DIVORCE

SURPRISED PAIR, HE TESTIFIES

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 3.—A decree in divorce was recommended here today for Fernal R. Marlier, 27, of McDonald, who is employed by the Columbia Steel and Shafting Company, of Carnegie. In suing his wife, Mrs. Mae Marlier, 24, he named Dr. M. N. Crawford, Oakdale dentist, as co-respondent.

According to Marlier, an anonymous letter left on his desk outlined relations between his wife and Dr. Crawford. Pretending he was going to a football game last Armistice Day, accompanied by friends, he says he went to Oakdale and saw his wife go to Dr. Crawford's office. They followed her there and forced open the door of an inner room.

THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH

VAN & SCHENCK LEAD DAVIS

Those perennial favorites, Gus Van and Joe Schenk, are back at the Davis Theater this week, their voices as easy to listen to as ever and their laughter as hard to resist. In Irish, Negro or Italian ballads they are equally at home—whether they celebrate the charms of Mary Ann or razz the Real Estate Papa, they are both able to tickle the audience into pleasant convulsions. They are the shining stars of a vaudeville bill that is exceptionally bright. There is Cortini, a magician who causes glasses of water to vanish, torn paper to be restored, and produces silver dollars at a rate that would make the United States Mint seem like a sideshow. A little playlet, "The Old Aristocrat," is presented by Jean Adair and company; she has true poise and real pathos, not overdone, and the sketch teaches a worth-while lesson, though the hokum of introducing famous names doesn't get across. An acrobatic dance act by Mlle. Rhea and Santoro, the brothers Caits in hoofing comedy, and Claude and Marion in a matrimonial argument, add picturesqueness and variety to the bill. The photoplay is "Soft Living," with Madge Bellamy in the central role of a plot about gold-digging wives.

RUSSIAN ENTERTAINERS FEATURE IN SHERIDAN

A group of Russian musicians, dancers and singers headline the three-day vaudeville bill that opened yesterday in the Sheridan Square. Marie and Ann Clark present a skit, "The Immigrant." Songs, dances and comedy comprise the act offered by the Four Caddies. A skit is presented by Joseph Byron Totten and Company. Gibson and Price open the vaudeville with a novelty presentation. The screen feature is "Husbands for Rent." It features Owen Moore and Helene Costello. Short film entertainment and an organlogue also are offered.

DANCE, COMEDY IN ALDINE

The current vaudeville bill in the Aldine has few, if any, dull moments. The show offers a melange of song, dance and comedy that amuses and entertains. The Four Diamonds give a pleasing dance revue, interspersed with a song or so. The two youthful Diamonds get "a big hand" for their slow-motion collegiate number. Billy Norton and George Brower have a presentation billed "Bug House Fables." It is just a lot of crazy nonsense, but it'll set you laughing and keep you amused. Harry Seymour and Myra Cunard present a singing and talking act in a novel and entertaining manner. One of the features of the bill is the appearance of Oscar Stang and his orchestra. The boys mix comedy and vocal music with their orchestral melodies. The stage show opens with the Three Flying Harpers whirling through the air. The photoplay is "The Irresistible Lover," with Norman Kerry and Lois Wilson. Kerry is seen as a wealthy bachelor, who, through many and varied love affairs, finds himself in continual trouble. Eventually, he meets the only girl, played by Miss Moran. Short film entertainment is on the bill.

Frank Craven as a Golf Fan Plays "The Nineteenth Hole" For Brother Fans in Nixon

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GOLF is the hero of the comedy, "The 19th Hole," which Frank Craven presented at the Nixon Theater last night, Mr. Craven may imagine that he is playing the principal role, but he is only the author of the play. The audience knew better. There were golfers there, rows of them, and what they saw was the Game.

GEORGE SEIBEL

What that game does to its addicts makes the play. Here is a writer and lecturer, who knows more about stained glass windows than any other man in the United States, who drinks an "old-fashioned sundae" in the liquor—no, locker room of the Golf Club, after having accidentally made a good stroke, and he is lost! He signs a membership card, neglects his work and his wife, loses a hundred dollars, gets into a quarrel, plays another match for double the stakes, loses that and his membership—and in the end gets it all back, and his wife has caught the infection, too, O, this terrible game of Golf, which makes grown men as little children, and comes after the measles and chickenpox are no longer to be dreaded.

It is a most enjoyable comedy that Mr. Craven has built up around the foibles and futilities of the Golfomaniacs. He knows human nature in all its reactions upon the fair green. Those cronies working together to ensnare a new victim, leagued in a holy alliance against their telephoning wives, bolstering up their scores with petty prevarications, as full of gossip and backbiting as any bridge sorority could be—they are portrayed with rare humor. Homer Barton, Howard Sidney, Walter Downing, Harry Lewellyn and Robert Wayne—an old stock favorite in Pittsburgh—were typical members of the Golf Club.

Frank Craven himself is as delightful as ever—in his guileless fashion — an innocent who falls among the golf wolves and soon howls with them. Dorothy Blackburn played the wife in a way that kept the love of her husband and the respect of the audience. Kitty Kelly as the sophisticated and blase young person deservedly made a hit. It's a very large cast—there are fifteen people in it—and all are fitted well to their parts. Besides that, the stage settings are irresistible. That scene of the First Tee at the Golf Club sent a yearning sigh across the audience. It is well that theatrical performances are usually given in the evening. Otherwise Mr. Craven's audiences would melt away day by day, and the country clubs enjoy a vernal boom. Nobody even missed the heart interest that wasn't in the play. Everybody just envied Frank Craven the six-dollar cup he won as a trophy.

Trophy

FRANK CRAVEN

Mr. Craven, author of and star of "The 19th Hole," comedy in the Nixon, gives the golf trophy the same smile a big game hunter bestows on a slain bull moose.

BARTHELMESS STARS IN GRAND PHOTOPLAY

"The Noose," a picturization of the stage play by that name, and starring Richard Barthelmess, is the current feature in the Grand. The movies have done a good job of this story of Nickie Elkins, the boy who, brought up in underworld environment, finds himself caught by a ironic and cruel fate. Barthelmess gives a good portrayal. There is suspense and many dramatic and emotional episodes in the piece. And there is a flavor of the stage show, "Broadway," in the opening sequences, laid in a night club. Lina Basquette and Alice Joyce are featured. Short film entertainment is on the bill.

"BE HAPPY" IS FROLIC ON STAGE OF ACADEMY

In "Be Happy," this week's burlesque in the Academy, the comedy has contrast in a dramatic adaptation of O. Henry's story, "Limb of the Law." Harry Jackson, eccentric comedian, appears in several sketches, including "The Arabian Knights," a burlesque on accident insurance. Harry Leff, Frank Durrane and Billy Lyons are other comics. Agnes Nichols is an excellent singer of syncopated songs. She and her sister, Winnie, appear in an eccentric dance and in a harmony singing specialty. Eloise Dwan has songs including "Four Leaf Clover," in which she is assisted by the chorus with a clover field in the background. Gladys Lockwood and Frances Hanes are prominent. A girl billed as "Youth," presented a Parisian dance. Blossom Lavelle and girls, and Ruth Donaldson appear in specialties.

"MY MARYLAND" BEGINS ANOTHER WEEK IN ALVIN

"My Maryland," musical romance of Civil War days, based somewhat on the Barbara Frietchie legend, which can be classed truthfully as a very popular operetta, began the second week of its present engagement in the Alvin last night. It also is the sixth week of the play this season in that theater—and the last one. The performance last night was attended by an audience indicating no lessening of interest in the pleasing musical piece.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 3.—Investigation into the cause of the mine explosion in the Number 2 operation of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company, which snuffed out the lives of seven miners and a company mine inspector, was begun today by R. M. Lambie, chief of the State Department of Mines.

The dead, all removed last night from the vicinity of the No. 31 entry, about four miles from the main entry, are Frederick Platser, 52, chief mine inspector for the Houston Coal properties; Raymond Poole, 35, Negro; J. W. Cochran, E. M. Hall, A. N. Studedant, John Preston, Walter Wade and Arch Frazier, all Negroes.

Platser had entered the mine after the explosion. His body was found beside a large lump of coal. He had suffered a compound fracture of the leg. Mining men believe he was pinned by the falling coal and in striving to extricate himself was a victim of after-damp.

Lambie said the rest of the 275 miners at work at the time of the blast had made their way to safety, most of them through an air entry on Pinnacle Creek, 5½ miles from the main entry, which was only cut through the mountain late last fall.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Marriage of Virginia Clifford and John Dalzell II to Be Outstanding Social Event of May

MAY has been rather neglected, so far, by prospective brides, which is rather unusual. Last year, if you will remember, there were quite a few large weddings during that most delightful of the spring months. However, there is to be one interesting wedding, at least, during this coming May. Virginia Clifford, I understand, has chosen Saturday, May 19, for her marriage to John Dalzell II, son of the William Sage Dalzells, of Kentucky avenue. Virginia is a daughter of John McElroy Clifford, of Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, and her engagement was announced last June.

Wouldn't you like to have been among those fortunate Washington folks who took airplane rides with Lindbergh? One local schoolgirl had that experience when the famous flier was there recently. She is Mary Yohe, daughter of Mrs. James B. Yohe, Jr., of the King Edward apartments, and is a pupil at Miss Madeira's School in Washington. With her roommate, Thomasine Stetson, daughter of the United States minister to Poland, Mary took a short flight. Mary, by the way, is home now spending her Easter vacation with her mother.

The bridal party has been named for the wedding of Elizabeth Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walker, of Newark, N. J., and Charles Wendell Beggs, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. B. Beggs, of Singer place, Wilkinsburg, which is scheduled for Thursday. Dorothy Walker is to be maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be Elinor Shay, Alene Barlow and Mrs. Adrian Betz, of Newark, and Eleanor Beggs, of Wilkinsburg. David Beggs, of Wilkinsburg, is to be best man and the ushers are to be Adrian Betz, Walter Allen and Sherwood Sleight, of Newark, and Lewis Bergen, of Bethlehem, Pa. The wedding is to take place in the Third Presbyterian Church of Newark with the Rev. Dr. Robert S. Inglis officiating. Miss Walker attended the Edith Young Art School and Rutgers College, and Mr. Beggs is a Lehigh graduate.

Announcement has been recently made of the engagement of Ann Hathaway Kiskaddon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Malcolm Kiskaddon, of Sewickley, to Thomas Newell Griggs, son of Thomas Campbell Griggs, of the East End.

Mrs. Nancy H. Cain, of Wilkinsburg, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Gladys Muriel Cain, to Bertil W. Krohn, of Wilkinsburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Krohn, of Los Angeles. The wedding will take place late in June.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Lesser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Lesser, of Warren, Pa., and Meldrum K. Carmichael, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Carmichael, of Washington, Pa., will take place Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Warren. Mr. Carmichael is a graduate of Washington and Jefferson College and the University of Pittsburgh law school and is a well-known musician.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Susanna Sherman, of Wilkinsburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sherman, of Cleveland, and Folke Richards, of Wilkinsburg, which was solemnized Saturday at 5 o'clock in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. William L. Anderson, in Singer place, Wilkinsburg. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Leith, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church at Wilkinsburg, and there were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Richards are taking a southern trip and after May 1 will be at home in Kelly street, Wilkinsburg.

20TH CENTURY CLUB HEARS FURNITURE TALK

Brass beds were known before the nineteenth century; in fact they are medieval. This was one of the many pieces of information gleaned from Mrs. Alice Van Lear Carrick's talk on "Period Furniture" before the Twentieth Century Club yesterday morning. The talk had much of interest to furniture collectors—"antiquers," Mrs. Carrick called them—and much of information to the remainder of the audience. The speaker illustrated her talk with stereopticon slides, showing the development of the various pieces, which, she said, went according to custom and costume. Chairs, she stated, had developed with social life and at first were made immovable. History should be taught by the progress of domestic arts and through furniture one could easily visualize the background of favorite heroines. Americans have been too busy to create a typically American style of furniture, Mrs. Carick stated.

The Sewickley Valley Woman's Club, together with the Edgeworth Club, will present Wilhelmina Andrea Johanssen, soprano, accompanied by Carl Lamson, in recital next Tuesday night. The Sewickley Music Club furnished the program for yesterday's meeting of the Woman's Club, Miss Marie Vierheller and Mrs. Christine Haskell being heard in several two-piano numbers and the choral of the club in several very old numbers, including "Hymn to Apollo," which was composed in 278 B. C. Under Miss Amanda Vierheller's direction, there was a demonstration of sight singing and the program was completed by Mrs. Morgan H. Bowman's violin solos.

Miss Ethel Tilley, soprano, and Mrs. H. P. McKown, pianist and accompanist, furnished the musical portion of the program yesterday for the Pittsburgh Literary and Musical Club meeting. Mrs. Mary J. Cowley gave "A Stained Glass Tour of Italy" and Mrs. J. Boyd Duff spoke on "Italian Lakes," while a deferred paper on "Ins and Outs of Cathedrals" was contributed by Mrs. George B. Ewart. The club will study Japan next year.

The club institute on junior problems, which was conducted yesterday before the Woman's Club of Wilkinsburg and a goodly company of distinguished guests, made an exceptionally interesting afternoon. Among the guests were Mrs. John E. McKirdy, vice president of the southwestern district of the State Federation; Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl, vice president-at-large; Mrs. B. W. Johnston, chairman of international relations; Mrs. B. B. Perry, president of the County Federation, and the presidents of several seniors and junior clubs in the district.

An unusually good attendance marked the spring musicale given yesterday by the Tourists in the Woman's City Club. The lovely program, in charge of Mrs. Henry H. Hanna, was given by Mrs. Ruth Bowers Gibson, violin; Miss Helen Machette, piano; Mrs. Hanna, contralto, accompanied by Mrs. A. S. F. Keister; Mrs. D. N. Bulford, who contributed a review of Durant's "Story of Philosophy," and Mrs. J. Charles Wilson, whose readings were given to piano accompaniment by Mrs. W. H. Patterson.

Lenten Sermonette

By the Rev. Dr. PERCY G. KAMMERER, Rector of Trinity Church.

"Well done, thou good and faithful servant. . . . Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."—Math. xxv:21.

This text, taken from the familiar parable of the Talents, is also a parable of life.

How many of us have the courage to see life as it is? Do we build up a series of evasions, or face bravely the dark forces which surround us, the disappointments and frustrations which are to some degree the lot of every man?

There are two forms of failure which are peculiarly hard to bear. One is the defeat of the energy with which God has endowed us, and the other the gibes and criticisms we have to bear when we are misunderstood. There is consolation and hope in Christian faith for those of us who feel we have failed. There is comfort in the words, "My kingdom is not of this world."

Consider the parable of the talents. The two men who tried gained their reward. The one who did not strive failed. Is there not another possibility? Is it not often true that men strive with all their strength and yet seem to fail? I am conscious of those men who stand defeated in the eyes of the world. Are they necessarily failures in the sight of God? The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong, and he who wrings from life nothing but a passionate hope may yet look forward to the praise of God. He may yet hear the words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant . . . Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

THE TEN-POINT WIFE

FAR too much is said about "how to choose a husband," and far too little about "how to choose a wife."

A husband is just one of the wedding gifts, anyway, like the bridge lamp and the blue console set—but a wife is a man's own FAULT!

If you asked the average man to name the ten essential qualifications of the ideal wife, he would probably begin with "Beauty" and finish with "A talent for cooking," or "vivacity" or "blonde hair." Which shows how little intelligence he uses in the most vital decision of his life.

HELEN ROWLAND

Tommy rot! Most beauty is bought and paid for, these days; and almost any little moron can learn to cook, with or without a can opener. You can feed your body at a restaurant, and get your socks darned at a laundry—but you can't feed your mind and heart and soul anywhere, except with the woman who fills your life.

There is a Ten-Point Wife, somewhere, for every normal man—but you can't recognize her by her permanent wave or the dimples in her knees.

The vital question is, IS she the girl to whom you want to go, when your head aches or your heart aches? Is she the girl to whom you long to tell your troubles and confess your mistakes? Is hers the shoulder you'd like to rest your head on, when you are "all in" or feeling sorry for yourself?

Is she the one woman who is a RELIEF from all other women?

Is she the girl who makes you think of yourself as "a very remarkable fellow?" The girl who bolsters up your self-esteem and cures you of your inferiority complex? The girl who recognizes the really fine qualities in your character down underneath all the boyishness and selfishness? The girl who has faith in your talent and ability? The girl who BELIEVES in you?

Is she your Cheer-Leader? Is she the girl who puts the PEP and the zest into life for you? Who understands your aims and visions and hopes? The girl who puts a meaning into your work and a significance into your job? Is she the girl who inspires and stimulates and braces you to high endeavor?

Is she the woman who understands you? Is she the girl with whom you always enjoy yourself? Is the most riotous party a dud without her—and is the dullest party a riot if she is there? Is she the girl with whom you enjoy doing simple things—walking, talking, looking at sunsets, dreaming, camping? Is she the ideal pal?

Then, my son, she is the Ten-Point girl for YOU! Because the woman for YOU, is the woman who has tenderness enough to sympathize with you, brains enough to understand and inspire you, heart enough to be loyal to you—and love enough to stretch out over a multitude of your sins!

He who ruleth his spirit is greater than he who taketh the city.—Proverbs.

THE planetary aspects for this day point to sudden and abrupt visitations, possibly of a violent or passionate nature. There may be unplanned changes or travel, precipitated by rash, hasty and tumultuous conduct or unguarded speech. Accidents and calamities are the auguries read from the evil transits of powerful planets. Calm and controlled action may save the day from disaster.

Those whose birthday it is are urged to keep a calm and cool attitude, with firm reign on tongue and temper, lest inharmony and evil be precipitated. Tumult and tempest might bring about unwelcome change or a dangerous predicament.

A child born on this day may require rigorous training and discipline to overcome violent and erratic tendencies. Well governed, it may be aggressive, constructive and adventurous.

FAY-KING

By FAY KING

I LOVE music. All music. Classical and jazz.

How I do envy those who can hear a piece played once and then hum or whistle it perfectly.

Try as I may, I can't do that. But long after a popular piece is completely forgotten it comes to me! I find myself singing something, but I do not know what it is. No one who hears me knows, but I know I am in perfect tune! It nearly drives me mad!

Once in desperation to satisfy my own curiosity I stopped in at a music store and hummed the thing over for them. It ended with the young man calling the senior partner who has long, white whiskers. He remembered it!

I left in confusion!

I think the radio should not send sweet, sad sob songs over the air in the morning. How can a sentimental dame get her dishes and dusting done while some soulful human linnet is warbling about broken promises and busted dates.

All the morning music should be in march time. A military pep would set the elbows working in double quick at the housework.

Nothing suits me better than a Strauss waltz for darning stockings. It sets the needle and cotton dancing around like a romantic couple who have just met at their first ball.

In fact, I become so enchanted under the spell of the waltz music I begin to imagine that I danced the holes into the stockings, and feel more like keeping them for souvenirs than mending them for service!

FOR THE LOVELORN

Stanley B

DEAR MISS GALE:

My best girl sometimes makes me doubt whether she loves me. Sometimes, while we are talking, she will say that she believes I lie to her when I say I love her. When I ask her why, she says she heard somebody say it, or something just tells her. I'll admit that I treated her rather mean when I first knew her, but I did it just to test her love for me. It was a severe test, but she surely did stick to me. We have known each other for over a year and for the past six months have seen each other almost every day. Maybe she is beginning to tire of seeing me every day. We are very confidential, and she knows everything about me that she ought to know, and that includes my financial standing. Either she is now testing my love for her, or she is just getting up a nice way to get rid of me and in such a way that the fault would be my own.

STANLEY B.

My opinion is that she is just talking, Stanley. She just wants to hear you contradict her and say that you do love her. However, if you feel that she is serious when she says it, then you had better have a frank talk with her and get it settled one way or the other.

Broken-Hearted

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been a reader of your column for two years and find you give wonderful advice. I am a girl still in my teens and have been in love with a fellow for three years. For the first two years we loved each other very much, but for the last year he has been acting very differently towards me. He tells me that he likes me like a friend, and no more. Now, Miss Gale, I love him very much and certainly want to be more than a friend to him. After he told me that I am no more than a friend to him I resolved time and time again to forget him, but it seems all in vain. Miss Gale, I know that you would tell me to try to forget him, but I know it is impossible. What other way can I win back his affections again? Often, in fact most every night, I cried myself to sleep over him, so you see it is impossible to forget him. Wishing you loads of luck, I remain,

BROKEN-HEARTED.

If he has been frank enough to tell you just how he feels toward you, there is nothing you can do but accept it, my dear. I am quite sure you could never make him care for you again as he did. Of course I must tell you to try to forget him. There is nothing else for you to do.

Money-Love?

DEAR MISS GALE:

Do you advise marrying for love—or for money? I try to get a little of each, but it seems they must come separately. Sometimes I say I'd rather live in a barn with someone I love—then when I think of breakfast in bed, pretty clothes, a beautiful machine—money has it's lead again. Who are the happiest?

MONEY-LOVE?

There can be no real happiness without love, my dear. I am afraid you would find that a marriage contracted for financial reasons would be a most heart-breaking affair.

U.S. Senator From New York

Parasites in Drinking Water That Do Great Harm

WE think of disease as being caused by a germ or some other invisible or microscopic agent. As a matter of fact, worms, some of them of considerable size, may find their way into the human body.

DR. COPELAND

They are as much out of place here as a rattlesnake would be in a dwelling house. But snakes sometimes do get into primitive homes.

There are many varieties of animal parasites that find their way into man's intestinal tract.

Today I wish to speak particularly of a parasite which is active in tropical, or semi-tropical countries. This form of animal life is not satisfied to enter the intestinal canal of its victim. It actually penetrates the blood vessel wall and circulates in the blood itself.

I refer to a worm called filaria sanguinis hominis. This name indicates the nature of the animal—the thread worm of the blood of man.

There are several forms. One is the filaria bancrofti. This is a long, thin organism, white in color, looking not unlike a horse hair. It may be from an inch to three inches long.

This type is likely to get into the lymphatic glands. From the lymph it gets into the blood.

Now a strange thing happens. There is one form that is found in the blood at night only. Another and different form is found in the blood in daytime. Then there is a third form, a day and night worker.

The thing that caused me to write this article is a letter I just received from Porto Rico. A gentleman wrote me regarding his wife.

She picked up this parasite in the Virgin Islands, where she lived four years. The poor woman has been suffering acutely during the past year.

The letter states that one leg is particularly affected. It is considerably swollen, red and painful.

Another symptom quite commonly observed in filariasis, as the disease is called, is milkiness of the urine. Instead of being white, it may be blood streaked.

There is still another form of this parasite, known as "guinea-worm." Some writers think the plague of fiery serpents sent to afflict the children of Israel was an attack of these worms.

I assume this is the form of parasite which has attacked my Porto Rico friend. The worm has found its way into the leg.

It is not unusual for it to get into the eyelid, the tongue, the arm, or the body itself. Painful swellings follow the invasion.

These parasites get into the system through the drinking water usually. This is another reason for making sure the water we drink in uncontaminated, boiled if there is any doubt.

I wish I could recommend some sure cure for the ailment. Unfortunately I cannot. Hot and cold-water applications in alternation are as useful as any local treatment can be.

Build up the general health by simple food, fresh aid and sunlight. In time there will be resistence enough to fight off the enemy.

Sometimes pus forms and when the swelling comes to a head the worm is expelled. Or it may be removed by surgical means.

"Those few whispered words made me flush with pleasure"

"'—the most beautiful hands, yet she does all her own work—'

"As I looked up from pouring tea, I realized with a thrill they were talking about me! I felt such a happy glow of pride . . . for my hands USED to be my despair!

"Now I find it easy to have soft, pretty hands, in spite of dishes to do three times a day. I discovered that by using Lux for all my dishwashing, my hands never became rough or red or chapped-looking. With Lux, they are even WHITER and softer after washing dishes than before!"

Millions of women who do their own work now have hands as flawless, as lovely, as if they never touched the dishpan! Because they wash dishes with delicate, sparkling Lux suds!

For these instant, magical suds are SOOTHING to even the most sensitive skin.* Lux is made by a marvelous special process—made whiter and thinner and purer than anything else. There is no trace of harmful alkali in Lux, nothing to dry up, to coarsen the skin, as there is in ordinary soaps—whether flakes, chips or cakes.

And Lux costs so LITTLE! In one of the big packages there is enough Lux for 6 weeks' dishes! So little to pay for beautiful hands!

MINE REBELS OUT TO ORGANIZE UNION FIGHT

AIM TO THROW LEWIS OUT

Delegates to the National "Save the Union" conference are returning to their homes today, saying they will endeavor to carry out the insurgent program laid down at meetings here yesterday and Sunday. Opposition to the "Lewis-must-go" and "spread-the-strike" policies face the insurgents in union circles. District and international organizers, board members and officials already are striving to counteract the influence of the rebel national conference by rallying staunch supporters to the John L. Lewis regime.

A number of sectional meetings were held this morning to discuss problems of organization and matters pertaining to the "Save the Union" leaders' attempts to gain control of local unions. Delegates have been instructed how to go about mobilizing the rank and file for the purpose of calling district conventions for the election of insurgent officers and delegates to the national convention of the United Mine Workers of America. By sending progressive to the national U. M. W. of A. convention, the "Save the Union" leaders hope to overthrow Lewis and gain control of the union.

An executive session of the national "Save the Union" committee is scheduled for late today when officers will be elected and final instructions will be given to the new leaders. John Brophy, chairman of the national committee, and Pat Toohey, secretary, are expected to be re-elected.

Delayed by snowstorms in the West, the Colorado delegation arrived in Pittsburgh last night about two hours before the conference adjourned. Six men made up the delegation which made its way from the West under difficulties.

Last night the delegates adopted a resolution calling upon the unorganized miners in Westmoreland, Fayette, Greene and Somerset counties to go on strike April 16. The resolution met with opposition at first because it did not include the anthracite miners, but it was explained that the "Lewis machine" was too strong for the rebels in the eastern anthracite region.

A resolution indorsing "The Coal Digger" as the official organ of the group was passed after it had been introduced by Ella Reeves (Mother) Bloor, of Indiana. The gray-haired woman, an honorary member of the United Mine Workers of America, was cheered by the delegates.

While the conference was in session yesterday, Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, and Patrick Fagan, president of District No. 5, were speakers at meetings at McDonald and California, which were attended by more than 4,000 persons. The meetings were held in observance of the thirtieth anniversary of the eight-hour day. Both speakers denounced the leaders of the Save-the-Union movement and said that those affiliated with the movement would be ousted from the union.

Judge James I. Brownson, of Washington county, yesterday granted a temporary injunction against union miners of Smith township, restraining them from "parading, marching past, in, upon, and through the premises of the Bulger Block Coal Company at Bulger."

The coal company filed $5,000 bond. Ten o'clock Thursday morning was fixed as time for the argument. Bulger is where the union strikers refused to obey the order of the sheriff limiting mass picketing.

TWO PAIRS—FULL HOUSE

PHOTOS BY SUN-TELE STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER.

Speaking of proud papas—Melvin Johnson, 1872 Morningside avenue, a professor at the University of Pittsburgh, waiting outside a room in a local hospital where Mrs. Johnson was a patient, heard the doctor whisper, "It's a girl—both of them." They are shown in the above picture—Jess and Jean or Jean and Jess. Prof. Johnson, however, expects generosity, for during the stork's last visit he left Patrica and Mary (below), aged two and one half years. This is one case of two pairs making a full house.

STRIFE HOLDING FLIERS, RUMOR

DUBLIN, April 3.—(AP.)—A soggy, wet field and unfavorable weather held the German plane Bremen in its hangar at Baldonnel Airdrome today, while the belief grew that there had been some hitch in the fliers' plans for the flight to America.

Arthur Spindler, who had come in the plane from Germany as copilot, left Dublin, and it was thought that Col. James Fitzmaurice, head of the Irish Free State air force, would replace him at the controls when the trans-Atlantic hop was made.

Baron Von Huenefeld, his monocle screwed in his right eye, paced the field like a caged animal and kept to himself his plans for the venture, of which he is the sponsor.

Col. Fitzmaurice, with the baron as a passenger, made a trial flight in the Bremen yesterday with Capt. Herman Koehl instructing him. This lent credence to the report that he was to replace Spindler, although the Irishman and the Baldonnel authorities denied it.

IRISHMAN LEARNS

For an hour before the Junkers plane took off, Col. Fitzmaurice sat beside Capt. Koehl in the cockpit and was shown how to operate the plane. The instruction was carried on with the aid of a German-English dictionary and the sign language.

The field was so soggy when the plane started down the runway with only half of the load of gasoline necessary for the trans-Atlantic flight that it began to sink. The engine pulled it out, however, and the plane took the air and soared westward toward America.

"I hope they have not fooled me and gone off to cross the Atlantic," Mrs. Fitzmaurice said.

Her fears were allayed when the Bremen turned in a great circle, flew over the capital and returned to Baldonnel after a 20-minute flight.

Human Intelligence Not to Be Learned by Seeking to Find What The Subject Doesn't Know

Thinking, like scratching the head, is a bodily act, Dr. Dorsey told Sun-Telegraph readers in yesterday's chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings." He elucidated this with examples of how the third-degree may work or fail to work in attempts to solve a murder mystery.

Columbus Couldn't Qualify Today

CHAPTER XLVIII.

THE great by-product of our participation in the World War was the startling discovery that "America is a nation of morons!" Moron means dull or stupid, and is technically applied to children with permanently arrested mental development. Defective mentality due to congenital deficiency is "amentia;" if due to deterioration, "dementia." Congenital imbecility is generally accompanied by a thin and poorly organized brain cortex.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Nearly 2,000,000 American adults were tested by the Army as to their intelligence. The average was that of a normal school girl of 12. As the test sampled the nation, the cry went up, "Nation of morons!" And much bunk was and is talked and written.

What is intelligence? "Ability to learn or to profit by past experience?" All right. The hog is an intelligent animal; rattlesnake also; likewise hookworm and clam. "Civilization's" intelligence, measured by the amount it has profited by past experience makes a poor showing; it goes right on putting its troubles upon the Lord instead of upon itself. Voters make the poorest showing of all; they put their troubles upon the "government."

The Army had to find out whether a man could react to orders and learn to use a musket; if not, he was not intelligent enough to shoot or fit to be shot at. If, on the other hand, he knew the chemistry of explosives, he was too intelligent to be shot at and was put to work in an ammunition laboratory. The Army had to make tests. It used certain lists of questions.

Tests Limited

I give you a list of questions. You may flunk completely. Have I tested your intelligence? Only to the extent of that particular list. Even then I have tested nothing of your capacity to learn or to profit by past experience.

I have a bottle of liquid before me. I ask that bottle certain questions: Are you indican, creatine, glucose or acetic acid; have you any phosphates, calcium or iron in you? To each the bottle replies "No." Very well, then, I cannot use you; your mother did not bring you up to be a soldier. But do I know from that test what that liquid is, or what it will do if I drop a hair or a lighted match in it? Or what it will do to me if I drink it? That bottle might be aqua vitae itself, for anything I know to the contrary. I did not test it for aqua vitae, only acetic acid.

There are idiots, imbeciles, morons, all degrees of feeble-minded. Grade A feeble mind passes into the low grade of a mind that is not feeble; and so on up through the grades to genius. But there may be two reasons why I cannot talk Chinese: never tried to learn it; could not learn it.

The deviltry of intelligence tests is the cold assumption that there is something missing in the headpiece of the boy of 12 who fails to make the grade, or that the adult of 30 with a 12-year-old grade could not have qualified for college.

A Zulu "cannot count above four"! Awful. What a moron; He owns a hundred head of cattle. Steal one. He knows it is gone; he has a name for every beast he owns. I am "good at figures." With slate and pencil I can tell you how many minutes there are in a year. A Chinaman will reach the answer in less time and more certainly by playing with some buttons on some wires. An infant prodigy will do it in his head—right off just like that.

Fake Standards

We start with suppositions in judging character, intelligence, personality. We must, of course. But as long as we are at the mercy of our convictions, we fail to realize that the boy of 12 does not make the grade, not because he cannot, but usually because that grade does not appeal to him. We have our own grades. The school, on the other hand, has its own. Instead of attempting to find out what grade I can make, it throws me out for not coming up to its standard. The average man meekly accepts the verdict incompetent, and is counted with the morons.

Every individual at any given age has actual and potential assets and liabilities. He is either adjusted to his environment and has the equipment for readjustment when the environment changes, or he is not and has not. He may not be a sissy today; would he be a sissy under any situation? He bites his nails, spits aimlessly, fumbles his nose, flies into a rage, collects shells, is upset by a worm, shies at girls, cheats at marbles, is always tardy; will he carry these habits, bents, hobbies, and emotional attachments and antagonisms to school—and out into life?

Many a teacher's time and patience spent trying to make the boy or girl learn could be better spent trying to find out what the boy or girl has a will to learn. Will being a human engine that goes best with certain fuel and in certain directions. "Music lessons" have spoiled many a cook and "modern languases" many a farmer.

If America is a nation of morons, then that is the answer to the attractiveness of the intellectual feast our educational system spreads; it is not a test of the American's ability to learn.

No Absolute Measure

We are cars of many makes, types, styles, gears and motor-capacity. Some are racers and some are trucks; some are no good on dirt roads and some are tractors and can climb mountains; some are one-seaters and some are buses; some can pull only themselves, others the whole family; some use a pint a mile and some a barrel.

And as any car can be wrecked as it leaves the factory, so also by careful and scientific handling every car is good for its capacity.

But we are more than machines; we make ourselves as we go.

Is this also a measure of intelligence?

What we make ourselves into depends on many factors. But one consideration should not be overlooked: there is no absolute in the measure of intelligence, only standards—yours, mine, this community's, that society's, etc. These standards vary and keep varying with time and place.

Christopher Columbus could not qualify for a water-tender's rating in the navy of Alfonso XIII. Of the world's hundred geniuses perhaps five could pass any of the contraptions now in vogue to measure intelligence. Of this same hundred few, if any, were rated "Intelligence A," by their contemporaries. In fact, some of them were killed by their contemporaries for lack of intelligence. Was that a measure of the intelligence of their contemporaries?

Campaigns Not So Awful Cheap, Says Col. Will

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 3.—You hear a lot of talk about the campaign this year being awful cheap, and maybe on the level, but I want to tell you that I would hate to offer $160,000 to either side. I'll bet it wouldn't have to be in bonds. They would grab at a promissory note. Or even an anonymous check. So don't be afraid to contribute. Both sides are doing business at the old stand.

WILL ROGERS.

LINDBERGH'S NEW PLANE

When Col. Charles A. Lindbergh "parks" his Spirit of St. Louis at Smithsonian Institution to be added to the collection of airplanes there showing aviation progress, he will begin to fly his new plane, as yet unchristened. It is shown above, at San Diego, Cal., where it was manufactured along the lines of his present ship by the Mahoney Aircraft plant. The new ship, affording Lindy greater vision, will carry pilot and four passengers and has brakes on its running gear to help him in making short landings. The instrument panel is finished in silver.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

YOUNG JOE CRONIN, a Pittsburgh ball player, is sent to Kansas City, having failed up to this time in qualifying as a big leaguer. His release brings back at least one vivid picture: A boy sitting on the edge of his Pullman berth with head resting disconsolately on his hands. On that day he had made three errors in Cincinnati to lose the ball game and to lose his one real chance to make good. In a land of strangers and in an atmosphere of futility, young Cronin would have furnished inspiration to any artist who chanced to see him that night. A contrast was achieved with the Pullman ringing out with laughs and sallies among carefree spirits.

THAT was far sadder than his release to the minors. The general public senses tragedy in hearing that a ball player has been sent to the minors. It is not the case. Cronin, playing regularly in the minors, will be far happier than Cronin sitting on the bench in the big leagues. In other words, it is far more fun to get a 220-yard drive yourself than to see Walter Hagen get a 250-yard drive. Too, it is nicer to bungle around in an imperfect bridge game than to watch four experts do everything so properly that the game almost loses the element of uncertainty.

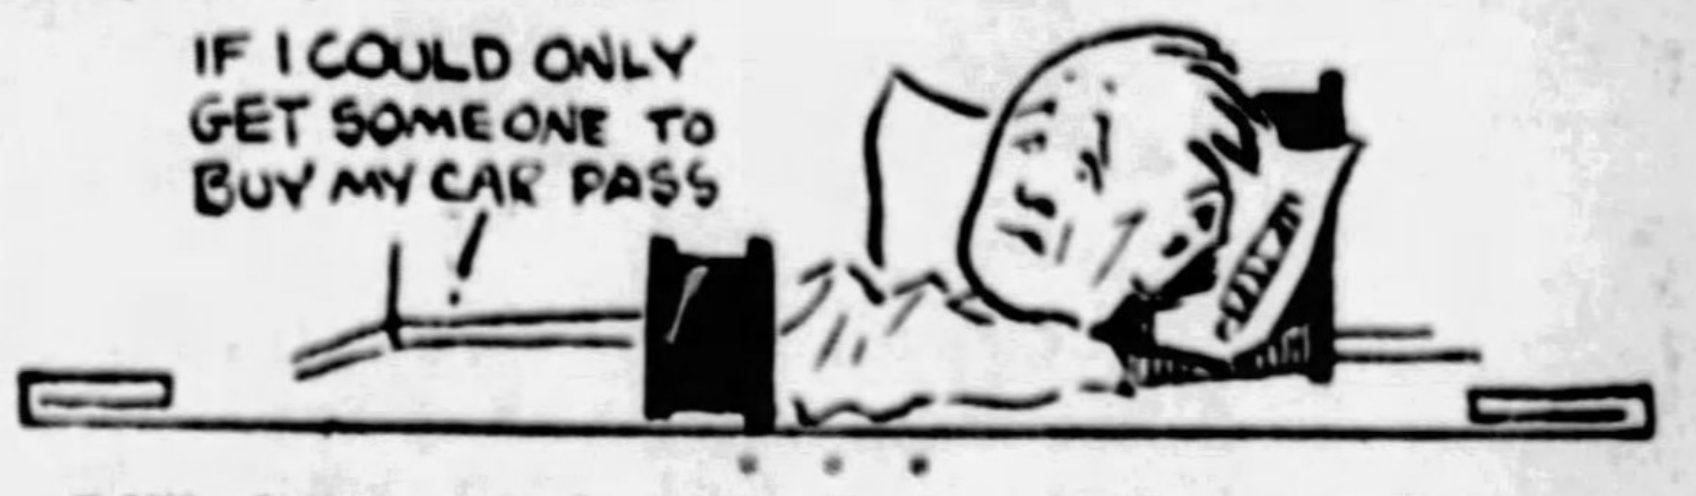
A LOCAL Scotchman, they say, took sick on Wednesday and was told he would have to stay home a week and was cautioned not to worry. He said he wasn't bothered about his illness, but feared a serious relapse unless he could sell his street car pass. That is one by Jimmy McKay.



IF I COULD ONLY GET SOME ONE TO BUY MY CAR PASS

ONE of the most pleasant gatherings is the one held almost daily in the office of George Murren, chief of county detectives. About 5 o'clock every afternoon you will see drifting into Mr. Murren's office some of the assistant district attorneys, other attorneys and reporters. The meetings have become so regular that a permanent organization has been formed and it is called "The Machine Gunners."

So many subjects are discussed and so many controversies arise in this gathering that the only way out, apparently, is the placing of small wagers on the verbal contestants. Chief Murren at last decided upon a plan to take care of the controversies and wagers. All wagers are taxed, which tax goes to a dinner fund. How numerous are the arguments may be gleaned from the fact that $75 to $100 accumulates every month. At the dinner, unfortunately, a few more controversies come up. For amity, a meeting of attorneys and newspapermen is not so hot. Both classes like to argufy, which seems to be a better word than just argue.

FOR no reason at all, that word argue always arouses speculation here. It long has been our opinion that either catalogue or argue are consistently pronounced erroneously. In fact, a friend of ours used to settle it by saying "argged" for "argued." He probably was brought up on a catalogue. Incidentally, that paragraph will never win a prize.

* * *

ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY ROY T. CLUNK overworked himself in trying a number of murder cases and was brought down with an attack of influenza. Recuperating, he was told to bundle up in a blanket on his way to work and on his return home in his machine. Daily, Mr. Clunk carried the blanket to his office and back to his machine. One of the boys, a little curious, at last asked him if he had lost his bed or found a blanket—which. To add to the discomfort of recuperation, Mr. Clunk, in an inner office, heard a voice say: "Does Roy Clunk work here?" and heard Andrew Park, a colleague, say: "No, but he's here."

CHARGES HIGH CRIMES TO WIZARD

Few of the old-time dime novels of adventure and crime ever had more high spots than those related in the deposition of David C. Stephenson, former head of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, which will be offered in evidence Monday in the Federal District Court by the five so-called "banished" members, who are seeking to oust the klan from the state.

The deposition taken by Attorney Van A. Barrickman in the Indiana state prison, where Stephenson is undergoing a life sentence for murder, is a bitter attack on Hiram Wesley Evans, imperial wizard of the klan. He is charged by Stephen-other serious offenses. Stephenson tells of a man employed by Evans who went over the United States burning Catholic schools. He also tells of several attempts made to take his life.

The klan, according to the deposition, collected $20,000,000 from its members in Pennsylvania and that Evans used his power of office in attempts to dominate the courts and corrupt State Legislatures in various parts of the country. Evans is accused by Stephenson with using women in attacking the characters of men who opposed him and Stephenson tells of gunmen being used in the general scheme for carrying out plans of the klan.

300,000 STRONG IN STATE

The Pennsylvania membership of the klan at its peak was about 300,000, according to Stephenson, when asked concerning the relative strength of the organization. He said he had been told by Evans that the klan membership was a little over 5,000,000, Evans making the statement when he thought he was going to be pressed for a financial accounting. Stephenson placed the membership in New Jersey at 60,000, and New York and all the northeast states at approximately 300,000.

Commenting on attacks made on Negroes, Stephenson said:

"Mr. Evans told me on a number of occasions of instances where they took colored men in Dallas, Tex., out and burned them at the stake; one they burned alive; another they cut off his ears, and another one they branded 'K. K. K.' across the forehead with either a hot iron or acid. These he told me about himself and not only told me about them, but bragged about them and boasted of them."

In reply to a question as to the use of the "mystic black mask," Stephenson said:

"The black mask is a robe authorized by Mr. Evans when klansmen go on killing or whipping expeditions. It is the official robe used for all acts of violence. Mr. Evans has told me himself of a number of times of taking them on a black robe party—which meant for me to understand that his language described the tar and feather parties and the parties of brutality which he and his fellow heroes engaged throughout the Southern states where the klan resorts to mob violence."

TELEGRAPH SPY

Stephenson told of a young lady, whose name he could not now recall, in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph Company at Indianapolis, who was paid $1 for copies of telegrams pertaining to any political matter or any matter in which the klan might have an interest. In this manner, Stephenson said, a number of telegrams were exposed to the public by klan officials.

Information desired by the klan, according to the deposition, also was obtained by tapping telephone wires of private citizens and business offices in Evansville by an irresponsible "Bojack" by the name of Bell. According to Stephenson, the telephone of the mayor and chief of police of Evansville were tapped and in that way they learned of contemplated raids and were able to collect considerable tribute.

Stephenson said that "vassels of the imperial wizard" attempted to block the signing of the deposition. Asked what type of men as to their character the governor of Indiana appointed, Stephenson replied:

"The lowest type of men available in the state, uniformly political tricksters who are incapable of earning a living by any other vocation."

Relating the death of Tom Austin, Stephenson said:

"Another instance where Evans endeavored to use a woman for the purpose of besmirching the name of men was when he tried to hire one Tom Austin to employ a woman of uncertain morals and use her in an attack on me. Mr. Austin very pointedly and emphatically refused to do so. Therefore, Mr. Evans arranged to assign Mr. Austin to duty in either New Jersey or lower New York. I am not certain just now where Evans had sent the gunman to kill Tom Austin. Austin obeyed Evans in the assignment and went to the desig-

How Indigestion Leads to Ulcers

Indigestion is dangerous.

The same acid which sours the stomach, ferments the food, forms gas and causes pain, also attacks the delicate stomach lining, making it sore and raw. This is how ulcers start.

The safe treatment of indigestion requires the double-corrective action of Bi-nesia. This not only neutralizes acid instantly, thus stopping the pain at once—it also soothes, heals and protects the stomach lining and gives full protection against ulcers and chronic acidity.

Get a large 50 cent package of Bi-nesia tablets or powder of any druggist today and treat your indigestion the safe way.

nated point, and very shortly after he arrived the gunman, whom Evans had stationed there with instructions to kill Austin, met him on the street and began firing. Austin returned the fire and both men fell dead. Thereafter Evans was jubilant and happy over the death of Austin, who ostensibly was killed in the line of duty."

Stephenson said he was not familiar with the Lillie and Bristol riots, but declared the Herrin, Ill., affair was a killing between some of Evans' gunmen on the one side and on the other side by a group of men who were reluctant to give up a lucrative bootleg industry.

CHARGES MURDER

Stephenson accused the klan leaders with "framing" members of the klan who opposed the unseating of Col. William J. Simmons, former imperial wizard. He laid the murder of William S. Coburn, a prominent Atlanta, Ga., attorney to the imperial wizard, who, according to the deposition, was put out of the way because he was going to bring out some embarrassing matters in a suit against the klan.

According to Stephenson's deposition, the klan engaged in bootleg operations. He declared that after he resigned from the klan he was approached by an attorney for the organization with a proposition to arrange for the protection of liquor shipments through the state of Indiana. Stephenson said he knows of a number of cases where "snoopers" were sent to investigate private affairs of members of legislatures.

Flowers From Everyone But Saxon and Jerry Feels Very Bitter

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good looking, charming and nineteen, falls in love with Saxon Rhodes, a young architect. Marza, her fascinating mother, warns her that idealists like Saxon make poor husbands. When he goes abroad to study, Jerry promises to wait for him. She refuses a proposal of marriage from Heinie Ross. Jerry agrees to wait three years longer. She wonders whether Saxon loves her as completely as she loves him. Saxon calls on his sister who warns him against marrying anyone and facing poverty. Saxon's attention to Ora Pringle gives Jerry a pang of jealousy. They attend a week end party where things start to happen. She decides to give Saxon up. She meets her mother and discovers that Marza has another daughter of whose existence her husband had been ignorant. Marza tells Jerry that this sister of hers is dying and needs them both. Stephanie will live and they plan the future.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

STEPHANIE, perched on the sofa in the little stateroom, pulled a snug hat over her dark, ruddy hair. Her hands trembled excitedly. "Almost in, aren't we? I suppose there'll be a vast crowd to meet us."

"Oh, you do, do you? The Mayor and the Board of Supervisors and a Hawaiian band to hang leis about our necks?"

Stephanie's short upper lip quirked merrily: "Why not? With all that retinue of yours? They'll be there, won't they, Jerry—all your men? What do men say when they write pages and pages like that?"

"Like what?"

"Oh, those fat letters in the long, spidery scrawl. You get one every day. Were those from Heinie? And the one that looked printed came from Saxon? At least those two will be there, won't they?"

"No. They don't know when we're arriving. No one will be there."

Jerry turned, her heart knocking hotly, and gave a last, hasty survey to her face. It was pale—with an intense burning pallor. "Why do I expect him?" she thought nervously. "When I didn't even tell him the train." That's all right! He knows we're coming. He could find out from Sylvia—"

Stephanie gave a large, absent sigh: "Then I'll have to wait, I suppose. I'm dying to see you in action, Jerry. I'm going to copy all your tricks and make myself frightfully fascinating. Do you know I've never received an amatory epistle in my life? And I'm dying to!"

Jerry glanced into Stephanie's flushed, glowing eyes and thought with a pang: "Waiting for love, Stephanie, too. Defenseless before it like all the fool women in the world. He won't come—of course!"

She stacked the suitcases. "You wait, Stephanie. I'll get the red caps. We're in."

A knocking. A man's voice.

Jerry's heart bounded. But the next her arms were about Robert Caples and she was saying with a little sob: "Oh, it's you—only you, you homely old love with your long dill pickle nose in the self-same spot. You're just in time."

"To carry me'" interrupted Stephanie with her gallant and friendly naivete. "How do you do, Robert? You see, I knew there'd be a borrowed lover to carry me about till I've time to acquire several of my own. It's awfully nice in you."

Robert laughed and lifted the elfin Stephanie with a great gentleness.

There passed between him and Marza a long, deep look of understanding. Marza's eyes lighted. Robert's humble and eager as a boy's—always when he looked at Marza.

"She's told him," thought Jerry. "As if that would matter to a love like his!"

She went out before them. But she wouldn't look around—pretending even to herself that she wasn't seeking him—nor even remotely expecting him. She walked nervously—uninterrupted—to the boat.

She sat on the edge of Stephanie's wheel chair and blinked because of the glare on the water.

The whole house was filled with flowers. Inga and Sylvia had dinner ready.

Stephanie, wild with excitement and delight kept ordering: "Push me over there—the view—now to the kitchen. Oh, stop for a chat with Inga—I know you, with the Kewpie face and the red hair. . .

"Oh, and you're Sylvia with your eyebrows coming together and awfully good—the last surviving good girl. I know everything."

In a loud aside to Jerry: "Read the notes, why don't you! Who in heaven sent all the flowers? Your men? Which from Saxon? Oh, quick—how can you be so stolid about it? Does this happen often in the wild and wooly West? What a thrill! Roses and gardenias in December! They must be vastly rich!"

The gardenias were from Heinie. Chrysanthemums from Bud Malone. Crimson roses from Hugh Hammond, the Englishman whom Jerry greatly liked—he who had protested so indignantly against the tubbing of Jessie Reinach.

Even Basil North sent flowers—a great basket of asters and heather.

None from Saxon. The contrast was too much. Jerry kept running to the kitchen against protests from Sylvia. "You're the rudest person I ever met!"

Jerry made a pretense of searching for catsup. She stood in the pantry and thought furiously: "I should care! I'll be damned if I care!"

She went upstairs with Inga. They had taken the top apartment—one immense room with a bath and kitchenette and a porch fixed up as a workroom.

"Sylvia got the prize at the last exhibit—just heard the beginning of the week. She's landed an order to do a portrait of Mary Eunice Pennings on the strength of it. Saxon swung it. He seems to have the dame hypnotized, and she's coming here to sit for it. You'll have a chance to appraise your successor?"

"Is she really my successor, Inga? Is it quite serious?"

"On her side—yes. He was best man at Phil's wedding. You didn't know that, did you? A surprise to everyone. Mary Eunice, the sweet young virgin, only divorced once, was maid of honor. It was a magnificent party. Even Sylvia got an edge so you can feature the rest of us.

"Mary Eunice wept on my shoulder. She gets sentimental in her cups, 'twould seem. She asked me to inquire of Saxon the state of his feelings.

"With a world full of Ora Pringles and Mary Pennings, she fancies that a man still thinks of marriage!

"Odd, isn't it, the way women do? Even the ones who are making it unnecessary."

"Well—he's safe for two weeks or more till he finishes this job in Los Angeles."

"Is he in Los Angeles now?"

"Yes—just went down to look over the site for a million-dollar theater Paul is to build. He does more work there than here. Saxon is handling the job—or going to when they get it."

Jerry walked about the porch picking up unfinished sketches. This helped a little. He wasn't here when the letter telling of her home-coming arrived.

Saturday came a special delivery letter: "Awfully sorry I missed that letter, Jerry dear. I could have sent a wire, anyway. Hope you didn't think harsh things to make my score even lower than I know it is.

"I've missed you much more than you think. Have you come home changed at all, I wonder? I was surprised and sorry to hear that you've taken that job. It's not what you want, is it?

"But perhaps you can make something big out of it and you may have time to keep on with your other sketching.

"I'm very eager to see the little cousin. If she's as good as you say, there's a treat in store for some one. I hope they'll have sense enough to appreciate it before it's too late.

"Jerry—perhaps I can swing you some good jobs. The Pennings will be wanting someone to do their furnishing. They haven't an idea and if you told them to paint the windows green and pink—they'd do it. I can get you this job. You'll let me help when I can—won't you?"

She read again and again—eyes blinking. It might mean everything—that letter. It might mean nothing.

"I'm fool enough to pin hope on a phrase—a vague phrase—"

Christmas she waited and waited. Last year he had given her a boudoir clock—an artistic gem. He was poor and had gone all over the city searching a thing of beauty for the money he could spend.

"Two years more—it won't take long to tick that time off, darling thing, will it"...."

He said this, loving her with those light thrilling eyes.

Now, standing at the window she was aware of Marza watching—Marza guessing.

So she wouldn't stir when the bell rang.

A great pot of poinsettias. She unfastened them quietly. She found herself counting the blossoms—eight—nine—ten—Oh flowers—this is the way a man says good-by—flowers for Christmas

The "Luxury" of a Clay Pack

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Do you regard a clay pack as one of those delightful inventions for those who can pay to look young?

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

When your own face seems to sag, looks sallow and tired do you simply accept it as "one of those things?"

All it needs is care. A tired skin can be remarkably refreshed by my simple clay pack.

Get a tube of Edna Wallace Hopper's White Youth Clay and apply it as directed. When you wash it off the gentle, purging action of the clay leaves a pleasant afterglow. The pores are freed of tiny, blemishing clots of dirt which become imbedded and, particularly in oily skins, form blackheads. Your face is thoroughly freed from these obstructions and the pores can function normally. The clay also is an astringent, leaving the pores closed, the skin firm and clear.

My White Youth Clay is the only product of its kind of which I know. It is dainty and agreeable to use. Get it at any toilet counter, in several sizes.

Eleanor Lincoln Disappoints Dicky But Makes a Point With Noel Veritzen

ELEANOR LINCOLN'S voice was almost shrill as she exclaimed in protest against Dicky's suggestion that she have the wolfhound, Fedor, standing by her side when she should pose for the drawing he intended to make her. Of course, to most of the group on the veranda her cry of "I don't want Fedor in the picture," was but the petulant outburst of a spoiled beauty. But I saw young Mr. Jackson shoot a furtively annoyed glance at her, and I caught Mary's eyes suddenly bright with malicious comprehension.

Noel Veritzen paid no attention to the little speech, all his attention patently absorbed in the problem of getting a word alone with Mary before his father's chauffeur should arrive. But I knew that Mary and young Mr. Jackson were remembering the same thing which my own memory was picturing. Again I sat in the drawing room at The Larches and heard pretty Mrs. Townsend exclaiming theatrically over the beauty of the picture which Miss Lincoln presented as she stood with her hand resting upon Fedor's head. The charming Southampton hostess who had sponsored young Jackson socially and brought him to The Larches had racked her memory to determine where during her travels she had seen a painting in which the figures of a dog closely resembling Fedor, and a girl not unlike Miss Lincoln were portrayed. Her memory had failed her, however, and I surmised that the young mistress of The Larches was greatly relieved at her forgetfulness.

Dicky did not press the point, although I could see that he was sorely disappointed. When he once fixes the concept of an illustration in his mind, he changes it only with distinct mental anguish. But of course he had no recourse but to submit. Miss Lincoln was not a professional model. Indeed, I knew from Dicky's manner that he considered her consent to pose for him a triumph of diplomatic achievement on his part.

"As you wish, of course," he said. "But I am so hoping that tomorrow you will avail yourself of the immemorial feminine privilege."

"And change my mind?" She sent a slow upward glance at him, which I, watching, could not help but realize was effective and provocative. "I am afraid not, but of course one never knows. Then I shall expect you at eleven?"

"Upon the stroke of the hour," he replied smiling, and she turned to Noel Veritzen with a subtle little air of proprietorship as unwarranted as it was effective, but which I was not sorry to see her assume. Mary needed a lesson, I told myself with a resentful little remembrance of the way my husband's temperamental young niece had spoiled my ruse for giving the young violinist the few words alone with her for which he patently was so anxious.

"When are you coming to see me?" she asked, holding out her hand to him. "You have neglected me shamefully."

Noel is too much his father's son to betray indifference or apathy toward any woman, but I was prepared to see him content himself with the usual perfunctory platitudes. But with a little thrill of malicious glee I saw unwonted interest and animation in his face, and heard a new note in his voice as he bent low and kissed her hand.

"You will make just the opposite complaint in a few days," he said gallantly. "Please believe that my staying away has been unavoidable. But I now am master of my own time."

Excess Fat Bars Goodies

Get Thin without Starvation

Excess fat causes many constant self-denials. Every day brings a new fight, and only a small percentage gain in those ways what they seek. The real cause is left uncorrected

Over 20 years ago medical science discovered a great cause of excess fat. It lies in lack of a substance which controls nutrition. A factor which Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

Then that factor was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. Now people have used them for two decades—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. Today everyone can see that excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was. In almost every circle slenderness prevails.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercises or diet, though moderation helps. Users simply take four tablets daily until they correct the cause. They know what they are taking, and why. The formula is given in every box, also the reasons for all results. Every user knows why the benefits come, and why they involve no harm.

You should try Marmola. Consider what it has done for so long, for so many. Watch what it brings to you in new beauty, new health and vitality. Learn the easy, pleasant, right way to a normal figure. As long as you live you may be glad that you found this scientific method. Order now—before you forget it. Do not wait.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Additional Stage and Screen News

JACK RUSSELL IN HARRIS

Willie Rolle, heralded as the smallest musician in the world, opens the Harris vaudeville show this week. He's small, all right, being a midget. And he knows his xylophone. Thelma Parker and Billy Joyce come next in a comedy skit, "Stage Struck." Then Jack Russell and His Pickaninnies "strut their stuff"—six pairs of feet well up on the art of shuffle and soft shoe dancing. Jack puts in some comedy lines, sings a bit and does some solo dancing. After this appears the fellow with the brown derby, who tries to crash the gate to a movie studio. He spills comedy chatter, manipulates his hat through a couple of juggling feats and goes through a lot of slapstick antics, assisted by his feminine partner. The act wins applause and laughs. Joe Daniels, newspaper columnist and actor, tells some of his own stories and sings a song or so. Virg Moore and his 12 Jazz Collegians appear as one of the feature acts. The photoplay is a Buck Jones western, "The Branded Sombrero." An organlogue and news pictures are on the bill.

PROGRAM OF LAUGHS ON SCREEN OF STANLEY

"Ladies' Night In a Turkish Bath," photoplay feature of the Stanley program, is a title indicating that the celluloid play to which it is attached is funny. It is a title that doesn't cheat. The picture lives up to it in every way. All that is not interesting from a romantic angle is comedy that brings laughter ha-haing to the surface. It isn't all new material, but what has been done over serves a merry purpose and gives the patrons as much fun as they are entitled to for one admission. Its chief fault is that, like movie fights, the principal comedy scene, pure farce, is too long continued. Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall do excellent work as the leading characters and they get the best of support from James Finlayson, Sylvia Ashton, Harvey Clark Reed Howes and Guinn Williams. On the stage the feature is the Mexican Tipica Orchestra, playing in native costume under the direction of Miguel Lerdo de Tejeda. Lizst's second rhapsody is the selection of the Stanley Orchestra, directed by Phil Spitalny. News pictures and "Topics of the Day," complete the bill.

WARWICK DEEPING NOVEL PICTURED IN OLYMPIC

In the Olympic, the screen version of Warwick Deeping's "Doomsday" is featured on the program. Florence Vidor plays the part of Mary Viner, and Gary Cooper acts the supporting male role, that of Arnold Furze. The Vitaphone program includes Coscia & Verdi, who perform on stringed instruments; the Collegiate Four" in "Campus Capers;" and "The Lemon," a comedy playlet. News pictures are shown also.

LINDY'S FLYING CAREER IS PICTURED IN PENN

The Penn screen offers two features, "40,000 Miles With Lindbergh," and Norma Shearer, in "The Latest From Paris." The aviation picture is a record of Lindy's flights, from the take-off on his trip to Paris, to the completion of his "good will" tour, actual pictures of "We" in the air. Early sequences of the film are devoted to the development of aviation from man's first efforts to fly. Miss Shearer makes a chic figure as a traveling saleswoman for a cloak and suit house in the other feature. She is good to look at, merely as a picture, but, while her enterprise is of the go-getter type, her sales methods are nothing in the way of competition to cause any regular drummer to shiver in the fear of losing his job. Ralph Forbes is likeable as the lad she competes with and George Sidney and Tenen Holtz play character comedy parts well as her employers. On the stage, Ben Blue wins first place with his funny dancing. Alfred Latell's impersonation of a dog finds favor. A vocal duet by Miriam Lax and Robert Cloy, ensemble singing and dancing and orchestral music form the remainder of the stage offering, "Galloping On."

MENDELSSOHN CHOIR SINGS 'PASSION' TONIGHT

The Mendelssohn Choir, Ernest Lunt, conductor, will present the "Passion According to St. Matthew," by Bach, in Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Soloists include Ethyl Hayden, soprano; Grace Leslie, contralto; Arthur Kraft, tenor, and Howard Gould, bass-cantante. Earl Mitchell will be at the organ. The performance will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

SUSPECT HELD AS LOOT IS FOUND IN CARNEGIE

Numerous robberies which have occurred in Carnegie during the last two months are believed to have been cleared up with the recovery of nearly $1,000 worth of goods by the borough police in a raid on the home of Walter Stranko, 24, of Pine street, Carnegie. The raid followed the arrest of Stranko in the store of Morris Scheurr, 11 East Main street. Stranko, who police say has confessed to several robberies, is being held on a suspicious person charge.

COUNCL ASKED TO NAME PARK FOR J. M. PHILLIPS

Councilman Daniel Winters yesterday introduced a resolution asking that the name of Carrick Park be changed to John M. Phillips Park. Mr. Phillips, sportsman and former member of the state game commission, is regarded as responsible for the park, which formerly was old Southern Park, owned by the Pittsburgh Railways Company. Accompanying the resolution was a petition signed by hundreds of residents of the section approving the change.

Bobby Jones Scores Nine Birdies

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—(AP.)—Being an active member of local legal circles hasn't hurt Bobby Jones' golf game.

Despite the press of being attorney for the Southern Railway and the irksome restraint of serving on the directorate of a bank, Bobby has found time for an occasional friendly round over Atlanta courses and the results of those rounds are full of portent to his prospective opponents this summer.

Sunday, for instance, the British Open and National Amateur champion paraded around his home East Lake course, in a sparkling 64, registering nine birdies in his jaunt and once slipping a stroke over par. This round, casual as it was, came within one stroke of equalling the record for the course which Bobby set himself in 1922. That 63, nine under par, he achieved through the simple expedient of making nine pars and nine birdies.

MADE WONDERFUL CHANGE IN HIM

Local Aged Man Finds Ten Herbs a Boon; Suffered Years; Can Now Work

"Although I am a man pretty well up in years, and had been physically unable to work more than a few weeks in the last three years, Ten Herbs made a wonderful change in me," was the statement of Mr. John E. Baker, 133 Eureka Street, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine. "My system was in a very weakened condition, and I had indigestion so badly that I had to live on the lightest kind of diet, as a heavy meal would nauseate me, and I would vomit," Mr. Baker continued. "Food fermented and formed gas. Some nights the pains in my stomach were so severe that I had to arise and walk the floor.

"I was always constipated, and my liver was sluggish. If I stooped over, I got so dizzy that I could hardly straighten up. I had to arise several times at night, probably due to my kidneys. My feet and ankles would swell until I could not get my shoes on. I became very nervous and could sleep but little. My blood seemed to be thin and my circulation poor.

"Neighbors know the condition I was in, and they remark about the change in me, since taking Ten Herbs. My appetite is good, and there is no fear of misery after eating, as there is never a sign of indigestion any more. My bowels have become regular, and my liver and kidneys are working fine. The dizzy spells and tired feeling have left me, and the pains in my back are gone. I do not have to arise at night, and can sleep the night through. My feet and ankles do not swell the way they did, and my circulation is better. My nerves are stronger, and I have gained so much in strength that now I am able to go to work again. If any sufferer is skeptical about trying Ten Herbs and will call on me, I will gladly tell him personally what Ten Herbs can do, as I cannot praise your medicine too highly."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

MR. JOHN E. BAKER

May Admit St. Francis

By CARL W. SHATTO.

THE elevation of the eligibility standards to the highest possible plane, the election of officers, the awarding of the basketball title trophy to Westminster, an announcement that St. Francis College was to make application for membership and the preparation of spring sports schedules featured a semi-annual meeting of the Tri-State Conference at the Fort Pitt Hotel late yesterday afternoon.

Discarding the one-year migratory rule for an even more stern eligibility law, the conference officials amended the constitution to read that any athlete entering a conference school after engaging in varsity competition for any other school is to be barred from conference competition for all time, and that freshmen engaging in regularly scheduled freshman competition at one school before transferring to a conference institution are not to be eligible to conference competition until after attending the school to which he has transferred for at least two semesters.

NEW RULINGS STERN

The latter rule is applicable to freshmen attending larger institutions where first-year athletes are barred from varsity competition. Freshmen attending smaller schools, where they are able to engage in varsity competition in the first year, are, like upper class men engaging in varsity play, banned from Tri-State Conference competition for all time.

The rule applicable to freshmen engaging in nothing other than freshman competition before transferring to a conference school also is exceptionally stern. Heretofore a freshman attending no college in the year previous to his transfer to a conference school has been eligible to competition as soon as he is enrolled, but hereafter a freshman athlete who has been out of school for one or more years previous to his migration to a second school must also attend the school to which he has transferred for at least two semesters.

The eligibility code was further reinforced when it was voted that any member of a conference team wishing to compete for a team between seasons must obtain the consent of his college in writing and one copy of this permission must be filed with the conference, while the athlete must retain a second copy for presentation upon demand.

OFFICERS ELECTED

H. C. Woollyn of Bethany was elected to serve as president of the conference for the ensuing year. Other officers named were: A. A. McDonald of Westminster, vice president; J. B. Stover of Thiel, secretary and treasurer, and John Holohan of Duquesne, director of conference publicity.

A. C. Edgecombe of Geneva was appointed chairman of a committee chosen to make arrangements for the annual conference track meet to be held at Beaver Falls on May 30. Holohan and McDonald were named to assist Edgecombe in the work.

WORK ON SCHEDULES

Work on the tennis, track and cross-country schedules was advanced rapidly, but a bad snag was struck when the officials attempted to perfect the 1928 gridiron cards. Just after the officials had treated themselves to a deep sigh, thinking that the work on the football programs had been completed, Bethany and Waynesburg representatives enlivened the situation by announcing that they each had only three games scheduled with conference members. The conference by-laws specify that any grid team playing less than four conference games is not to be given championship consideration, so Bethany and Waynesburg may be counted out of the 1928 football race before it starts. By shifting dates Duquesne was able to tentatively card Waynesburg for a game here on the morning of Thanksgiving Day. Should this tentative date receive the sanction of both schools, Waynesburg will be given a chance at the title and Pittsburgh will be given an added gridiron attraction. Bethany still is out in the cold, but the situation may be remedied at a meeting contemplated at a later date.

Geneva was the only school with any completed schedules to announce after the schedule confab. Geneva's track and tennis cards are as follows:

TRACK.

April 28, West Virginia at Geneva; May 5, Carnegie Tech at Geneva; May 12, Geneva at Grove City; May 19, Geneva at Allegheny; May 26, Duquesne at Geneva; May 30, Tri-State Conference meet at Beaver Falls.

TENNIS.

April 21, Geneva at Bethany; April 30, Geneva at Carnegie Tech; May 2, Geneva at Salem; May 4, Geneva at Davis and Elkins; May 5, Geneva at West Virginia Wesleyan; May 7, Bethany at Geneva; May 8, Geneva at Westminster; May 10, Geneva at W. & J.; May 11, Davis and Elkins at Geneva; May 14, Geneva at Duquesne; May 17, Salem at Geneva; May 18, West Virginia Wesleyan at Geneva; May 23, Allegheny at Geneva; May 25, Geneva at Allegheny; May 29, Duquesne at Geneva; May 30, Westminster at Geneva.

Although no formal application for membership was received from St. Francis, it was announced that the Loretta school had approached conference officials in regard to admittance, and that the application might be expected at any time. The St. Francis grid and cage teams are coached by Bill Donohue, former star halfback at Carnegie Tech.

The awarding of the Tri-State Conference basketball title trophy to Westminster was a mere formality, the New Wilmington cagers having themselves attended to all preliminaries while the season was in progress.

Those attending yesterday's meeting were: A. C. Edgecombe, Geneva; John Holohan, Duquesne; Furman Nuss, Bethany; J. B. Stover, Thiel; H. C. Woollyn, Bethany; A. A. McDonald, Westminster; John Lawther, Westminster, and Dean H. E. Frisell, conference commissioner.

Sinclair Has No Intention Of Selling

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Harry F. Sinclair says he has no intention of selling his racing stable and that his horses will continue to run in the colors of the Rancocas stable as usual.

Commenting on the agitation created by reports of the sale of his stable to James Irwin, Philadelphia contractor, Sinclair said:

"Somebody seems overanxious to sell my horses for me. I never heard of the man in my life. Several months ago Sam Hildreth sold two or three of my horses to a man named Emmons of Philadelphia to be trained as jumpers. You can say for me that I intend to race my horses in my own colors according to the schedule Sam Hildreth has followed in the past.

YALE SWIMMERS TOP MICHIGAN VARSITY, 39-23

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3.—(AP.)—Yale won an unofficial collegiate national swimming championship here last night by defeating University of Michigan, the undisputed champions of the West, 39-23. The victory, however, was not an easy one and was not decided until the last event. The 200-yard relay, which was won by Yale in the fast time of 1:37 2-5. A victory for Michigan in the relay would have tied the score and given the meet to the Western team. The event was virtually a dead heat.

WINSLOW WINS TITLE

The Winslow Club won the championship of the major league last night when it defeated the McKeesport Alumni, 28 to 23, on the latter's floor.

THE A'S HAVE IT—FIRST AUTOS, THEN AIRSHIPS AND NOW THE A. A. A.

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, America's first war ace, is what you might call an A1 man. Here you see the three stages in his picturesque career, as he was in 1912 and 1917 and as he is today. In the beginning he was a great auto driver and figured prominently in the famous Indianapolis Memorial Day races. He went to France as General Pershing's chauffeur, graduated to the air service and became America's greatest airman in the war. Today he is back whence he came, in the auto game, and is a member of the contest board of the American Automobile Association, which controls the big Indianapolis speed classic. SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

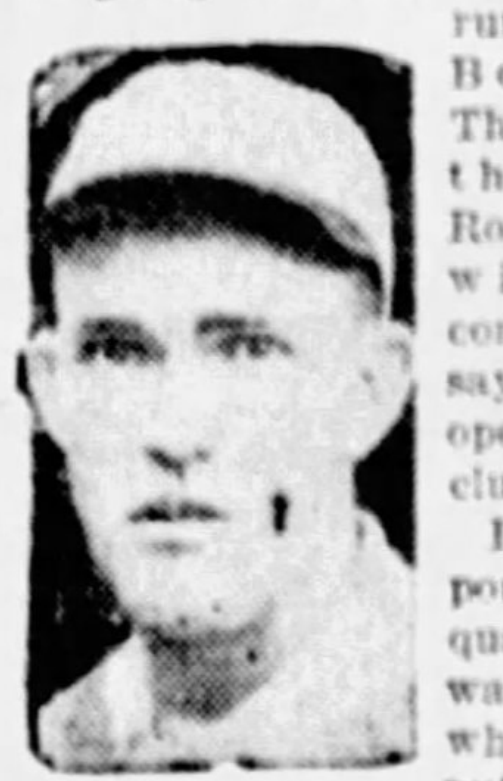
WHEN the Cardinals traded Lester Bell to the Braves for Andy High and $20,000, one of the rumors circulated in explanation of the St. Louis club's action in parting with one of its regulars was that someone in power on the Redbird outfit had dictated the deal because he disliked Bell personally.

Jack Slattery

After reading this report, Manager Jack Slattery observed that no ball player on the Boston National League Club would ever be parted with for a like reason.

"Personal feelings should never affect a manager's attitude toward a ball player," he said, "and there will be no such stuff on the Boston club. Results are what we are after."

BUT while approving Slattery's policy, many baseball fans throughout the land are beginning to wonder just how much Slattery is going to have to do with the running of the Boston club. They are asking themselves if Rogers Hornsby will not have considerable to say about the operation of the club.



Rogers Hornsby

In fact it is reported in some quarters that it was Hornsby who planned and put over the deal for Bell, and more than one story from the South has indicated that the relations between Hornsby and Fuchs appeared to be closer than those between Slattery and Fuchs.

Many baseball men doubt the tale that Hornsby's salary in Boston is $40,000 or more. They assert that he was not getting even $30,000 in New York last year, and that it is ridiculous to claim that Boston boosted the sum $10,000 or more inasmuch as Hornsby had a two-year contract with the Giants and could have been compelled to

COMMISSION AWAITS WORD FROM GENE

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The New York State Commission today unexpectedly withheld its approval for the Tunney-Heeney heavyweight championship match in spite of the fact that the titleholder has accepted the bout with one of the commission's three leading challengers.

The commission indicated its standpat attitude was based on a technicality in not receiving direct reply from Tunney himself to a request that the champion definitely pick his next title opponent.

Information relative to the matching of Tunney and Heeney for a July bout was conveyed to the boxing solons by Jess McMahan, Tex Rickard's matchmaker, but this apparently was not considered satisfactory.

The commission, however, did not fulfill its threat to declare Tunney ineligible in this state for failure to comply strictly with its mandate. The indications are that as soon as the champion in person tells the commission he has agreed to fight Tom Heeney the commission will put its official O. K. on the bout if proposed for a New York battleground.

"Cuyler's Made 'Em," Cubs' Owner Says

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—The five straight exhibition victories of his Chicago Cubs over the National League champions, Pittsburgh, have convinced William Wrigley, gum and baseball magnate, that his club is at last certain of a pennant.

And his opinion is upheld generally by sport fans of Chicago.

Home after watching the Cubs in their victorious training season, Wrigley was joyful today. The combination of Cub pitchers and hitters, led by the former Pirate, Kiki Cuyler, and Hack Wilson, together with several new infielders, will stop any team in the senior circuit, he believes.

"Say, wait until you see that team," he enthused. "They are the best team in the league and the best we have had in years. They've got everything—everything. Pitchers, hitters, and say, wait until the fans get another look at this boy Cuyler! There's the fellow that's made 'em. And they said he was temperamental. Why, he's the easiest fellow on the team to get along with. He'll do anything for the club and he's going to do a lot, you wait and see."

LONDON TYPIST SET ON MAKING SWIM

CUETA, Morocco, April 3.—(INS.)—Miss Mercedes Gleitz, London's typist Channel swimmer, was still determined today to swim the Straits of Gibraltar after coming within a mile of succeeding in her fifth attempt last night.

She was in the water almost 15 hours, starting from Tarfia, Spain, at 7:20 o'clock yesterday morning. She had covered 17 miles and was within a mile of this place at 10:30 last night when she was forced to give up the attempt.

The Palfrey sisters of Brookline, Mass., won the national girls' indoor singles and doubles tennis titles in the tournament at Brookline ending last Saturday. Sarah, who is 15, retained the singles crown, beating her sister, two years older, 6-4, 6-2, in the final round. The pair defeated Virginia Rice of Brookline and Charlotte Miller of New York in the doubles final, 6-4, 8-6.

KATKISH REPEATS WIN OVER RUDY CEDER

By HARRY KECK.
Sun-Telegraph Sports Editor.

IF YOU want anything in this world you have to go out after it. Jack Katkish, of Lawrenceville, wanted to repeat his victory over Rudy Ceder, of Tarentum, in the eight-round wind-up at Motor Square Garden last night and he went out after the win and bagged it. Ceder held back and was left holding the bag as the judges split and the referee, Al Grayber, very properly awarded the verdict to Jack Zivic's former stablemate.

The return bout was almost a duplicate of their former meeting, in which Katkish scored three knockdowns and Ceder one and both had the fans standing up on their chairs cheering. That is, it was after an exceedingly tame start, in which each exhibited a wholesome respect for the other. For two minutes of the opening round, it looked like a typical return bout, meaning there was no action. Then one of them was hit and they forgot to be overly cautious.

CEDER FLOORED FIRST

Katkish registered the first bullseye for a knockdown. It came late in the opening round from a short right to the jaw which sent Rudy sagging into the ropes and down on the canvas for the count of three and awakened the crowd from a lethargy into which it had been rapidly sinking. Rudy clinched when he dragged himself up and awaited the bell.

Ceder held his own in the second round. Katkish did the forcing, but Rudy kept spearing him with straight lefts as he came in and

LOSE FIFTH GAME IN ROW TO BRUINS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

EL PASO, Tex., April 3.—The Bush-McCarthy baseball clans reached this international border city about 10 o'clock this morning with practically everybody in good health. Most of the night was spent in riding across the desert lands from Phoenix, where, yesterday, the Cubs fastened a fifth straight defeat on the slumping Pirates. The score was 6 to 4.

The two clubs separated upon the arrival of their special train at El Paso. The Chicago boys had two hours at their disposal and many of them boarded taxicabs and went over the bridge into Juarez.

The Bushwhackers had only a short layover and then proceeded along toward San Antonio. The Cubs were due to leave later for Kansas City.

Manager Bush stated he would start John Miljus tomorrow against the Detroit Tigers. Remy Kremer is likely to do the relief trick.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

PAUL HOUSTON, sponsor of the Green Cab nine that won the Class AA championship in 1925 and the County League pennant in 1926, has decided that Green Cab will not be represented in local semi-pro ranks this season. Action of the County League officials in banning the Cabbies from the 1928 circuit prompted Houston's decision, announced last night. Green Cab placed no team in the field last year.

GEORGE LEES, one of the outstanding catchers in semi-pro baseball locally, will run the affairs of Bellevue on the playing field this season, it is stated. Lees played a great part in the success of the Green Cab nine two seasons ago, when the Cabbies copped the gonfalon of the County circuit.

In that particular season some heavy hitting material was in the county loop and fans who remember the playing of the series for the championship between Jimmy Forsyth's National Tube outfit and the Cabbies might remember that Ollie Carnegie and the heavy hitters did not do very much.

LEES probably does not get into the limelight as often as some of the receivers in the district. But Lees is very capable and knows what every sandlotter in this district can hit.

Keeping this in mind getting a bunch of runs at the expense of the North Boro hurlers this season is going to be a real job.

THE McConkeys of Wheeling who open with the Homestead Grays in Wheeling next Sunday are desirous of booking games with the best semi-pro clubs in the Pittsburgh district. Manager McConkey wants to complete his schedule as soon as possible and any club wishing to get on the McConkeys list should write H. McConkey, 146 Six-

Darragh Gets Hockey "Clean Play" Award

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—Harold Darragh, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been awarded the "Clean Play" trophy for the 1927-28 season of the National Hockey League. It is the annual award to the player spending the least number of minutes in the penalty box.

Darragh, who is a native of Ottawa, Ont., spent 1,620 minutes on the ice and only 10 in the penalty box as the result of only five minor offenses.

The Pirate right winger's average was slightly better than that of Frank Boucher, New York Ranger center, who won the trophy for the player combining clean play with effectiveness. Boucher was on the ice 1,674 minutes and spent 14 minutes in the penalty box.

Darragh has a consistent record for clean play. In the last three seasons he has been in the penalty box only 15 times for a total of 30 minutes.

C., April 3.—(AP.)—Playing the same brilliant golf that won her the medal and brought her through the first match play round of the women's United North and South golf tourney here, Glenna Collett, of Providence, today vanquished Miss Beatrice Gottlieb, of New York, 7 and 6, in the second round.

A throng of admirers greeted Gonzales, who formerly lived in New Mexico, as he finished the 34.3 mile lap from Newkirk in 4:26:30. On the basis of elapsed time, he ranks fortieth in the field, the leadership of which is held by Arne Souminen, Detroit.

Ollie Wanttinen, New York, finished second in 4:42:40. His elapsed time is 221:55:32. He was followed by Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla.; Arne Souminen, Detroit, and Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England.

Mike Kelly of Goshen, Ind., who is last in the race in elapsed time, 386:37:15, wired his mother "my shoes are about gone; send dad's old ones." The leadership elapsed time of Souminen is 177:48:45.

BOWLING and BILLIARDS

COMPETITION in the Market Square bowling tournament opened fire last night with four five-men teams rolling. The scores compiled by the entrants were just fair for first-night bowling. A good-sized crowd watched the pinmen as they began their assaults on the maples.

Kenmir turned in the high individual score, rolling a fine 607. The Republic Casualty Company team was high with a 2025. Second place went to the Fashion Wall Paper Company team with a 2011 and third was taken by the All-Nation's of the North side, one pin under the score of the Fashion Wall Paper outfit. The Chris Specials of Pittsburgh were last with an 1894.

Singles and doubles competition will be offered in the program today in addition to more five-man team competition.

CHICAGO, April 3.—(AP.)—Willie Hoppe, former 18.2 balkline king and holder of the three-cushion high run record of 73 planned his debut into national three-cushion tournament competition today when he meets Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, former champion.

Hoppe is the favorite to take the title from Otto Reiselt of Philadelphia.

Reiselt won his first game yesterday, defeating Art Thurnblad of Chicago, 50 to 27 in 42 innings. Len Kenney of Chicago furnished the first upset of the tournament when he defeated Kieckhefer 50 to 49, in 62 innings. The former champion started off brilliantly with runs of four and 12 respectively in the first two innings and then slumped.

Other matches scheduled for today were: Allen Hall, St. Louis vs. Charles (Cowboy) Weston, Pittsburgh; John Layton, Sedalia, Mo., vs. Karl Lookabaugh, Lindenwood, Ill.; Gus Copulos, Detroit vs. Art Thurnblad, Chicago.

A. B. C. WINNERS NAMED

KANSAS CITY, April 3.—(AP.)—Allotment of nearly [illegible] in prizes to leading entries in the four weeks of American Bowling Congress competition was started today.

Entrance fees for the twenty-eighth Congress totaled [illegible], which, coupled with funds paid by about 18,000 spectators was slightly under the expense budget, officials said.

The 2,251 five-man teams was the largest number ever in the Congress competition. There were 2,250 two-men teams and [illegible] entries in the singles. Five-men prize money totaled $24,350; two-men, $14,110; singles, $11,[illegible]; all-events, $2,238, and about [illegible] was posted in booster awards.

Henry Summers, [illegible]-year-old St. Louis bowler, was named singles champion at the close of yesterday's final session. His mark of 705 was only one pin under that of Bill Eggers, of Chicago, who won at Peoria last year. Harry E. Smyers, Pittsburgh, retained the all-time Congress record of 748 established in 1924. Summers received $500.

H. Will and J. Hradek of Cicero, Ill., took the doubles with 1,363, the second high score rolled in that event in A. B. C. tournaments. They won $500. H. Thoma and C. Thoma of Chicago hold the record of 1,380, made in 1924.

Phil Wolf, Chicago veteran, remained at the top in the all-events with 1,937 to win $[illegible]. This was the lowest score to win this event in six years. Barney Spinella of New York, shot 2,014 at Peoria, while W. J. Knox of Philadelphia established the record of 2,019 in 1927.

The 3,057 that won the five-men title here for the Oh Henrys of Chicago, was slightly under the average for the last five years. The Ten Shops of Milwaukee, now known as the Netmeco Malts, won last year with 3,193.

The tournament will be held in Chicago next year.

messed up his nose. It was a tame session but the tenseness of the situation held the fans. They were looking for almost anything to happen any moment.

It happened in the third round. Rudy was boxing cautiously, breaking ground and blazing away with his left as Katkish came rushing. Suddenly Rudy shifted and waited and Katkish didn't come in. He repeated, and, this time, as Katkish rushed, Rudy nailed him with a left on the chin and down went Katty along the ropes. He took a count of nine on his knees and fought back until the bell.

Ceder again was going along well in the fourth round, outboxing the pace-setting Katkish until just before the end, when he let go a right swing, missed with it and was brought up short by a left which dumped him heavily near a neutral corner. The bell rang as he hit the floor and he picked himself up dazed and went to his corner.

KATKISH FINISHES STRONG

The fifth round was slow, with Ceder having the edge in punching. Katkish forced the fighting through the sixth round and had it by quite a margin. Ceder came back with more life in the seventh and earned an edge, although Katkish made a strong rally toward the finish.

The eighth was all Katkish. He set the pace and maintained it. Ceder was tired and did considerable holding on in the clinches. In the dying moments Rudy uncorked an overhand right to the jaw and followed with a left swing and pushed Katkish off balance as he piled in after the punch. Katkish was outfighting him again at the final bell.

Katkish won four of the eight rounds, with one even, scored two knockdowns against one and made the fight most of the way, so that he was entitled to the decision. However, he wasn't as impressive as in his first bout with Ceder, and neither was Rudy, for that matter. Each had too much respect for the other's wallop.

Ceder scaled 147½ pounds and Katkish 145¾. The looked-for slaughter of the innocents drew one of the best houses in recent weeks. Red Chapman, on his way back to Boston from Hot Springs, was a spectator and was introduced before the main bout.

BAD EYE ENDS BOUT

The prelims were among the best of the season for action, although the scheduled eight-round semi-final between Jack McFarland of Wilkinsburg, 126 pounds, and Joe Elrene of the North side, 127½ pounds, had to be stopped after the fourth round because of a bad cut on Elrene's left eye, which bothered him from the first round on. McFarland was a handy winner up to the time he was credited with the technical knockout. Commissioner Havey J. Boyle ordered the referee to call a halt.

Young Rudy of Charleroi, 134, gave the veteran Sig Keppen of Beaver Falls, 139¾, a thorough shellacking in the main six-round bout, and, in the other one, Joe Louder of the South Hills, 145 pounds, making his Motor Square debut, showed a world of promise in beating tough Jack Unglo of Etna, 148. Louder is a cool, clever boxer and a fine, straight counter puncher. A protege of Mull Bowser, he is one of the best young prospects to show here in a couple of years.

Tony Azzara of the East End, 125 pounds, rallied from two knockdowns in the first round to win the decision over Eddie Schuster of Sharpsburg, 122, in a crude slugging four-round opener.

Joe Keally and Al Grayber alternated as referees. The judges were Jim McLaughlin, who voted for Ceder in the main bout, and Jock Simes. A. C. Couch was timekeeper. There will be no show at Motor Square Easter Monday.

PEABODY AND LANGLEY ANNEX SWIM TITLES

Peabody and Langley High School swimmers won City League championships in the annual title meet at the Fifth Avenue High pool yesterday afternoon. In the senior division Peabody and Carrick tied for first place with 12 points each, but the league rules specify that in case of a tie the team winning the relay shall be awarded the title. Because Peabody won the relay, therefore, Carrick had to be satisfied with second honors. Langley's victory in the junior division was fairly decisive. The standing of the senior teams: Peabody 12, Carrick 12, Schenley 11, South 11, Perry 10, Westinghouse 9, Oliver 5, Langley 2, South Hills 1.

Junior teams scored as follows: Langley 21, Westinghouse 17, Allderdice 14, South 10, Latimer 8, Carrick 3, Peabody 2, Oliver 2, Ralston 1, Knoxville 1.

play in Boston this year for the same pay that he received in Gotham.

ANYHOW, a second-division club, as Boston was last year, cannot pay such salaries as $30,000. Clubs of that kind rarely escape a loss even with a modest payroll.

Even if Hornsby is receiving only $30,000, however, it means that he is getting about three times as much money as Manager Slattery. It is difficult to keep ambitious $30,000 boys in the background and make them refrain from trying to take a hand in the managing of the club under such conditions.

From all reports, Hornsby tried to assume too much power in New York, and failed to get away with it only because John McGraw would not stand for it and because McGraw was backed up by President Stoneham.

IT is hard to picture Hornsby being content with the part of a private or even a captain in Boston and taking orders day after.

Fandom may be pardoned for wondering how long it will be before a story comes that all is not serene between Slattery and Hornsby or even that Hornsby has suddenly been appointed to supplant Slattery as pilot.

ONE of the Sun-Tele readers asks for information as to how the heavyweight boxing championship ever got into the hands of Tommy Burns and Jack Johnson in view of the fact that Jeffries, after winning the title from Bob Fitzsimmons in 1899, was not defeated until he met Johnson 11 years later.

The explanation is that Jeffries did not remain active all that time. In 1905 he announced his retirement from the ring, and a match was arranged between Marvin Hert and Jack Root to determine his successor. Hart and Root met at Reno, Nev., on July 3, 1905, with Jeffries himself as referee, and when Hart knocked out Root in the twelfth round, Jeffries "presented" his title to Marin to defend against all comers.

Jim Jeffries

Just where Jeff got the authority to do any "presenting" of the sort has never been explained, as it was always understood by most fight followers, until the New York Commission stepped in and assumed rule over the remainder of the world, that a man could lose a title only in a ring.

BUT in any event, Hart was recognized as the titleholder in spite of the fact that Philadelphia Jack O'Brien claimed it, and the outcome was that Hart was matched with Tommy Burns for a 20-round bout in Los Angeles, February 23, 1906. The bout went the limit and Burns got the decision.

Jack Johnson.

Jack Johnson immediately challenged Tommy and the latter, a Canadian, after beating Bill Squires in one round at Colma, hied himself to England and thence to Australia, with Jack Johnson in hot pursuit of him and challenging repeatedly for the championship. Finally a match was arranged for December 25, 1908, in Sydney, and Johnson won, in 14 rounds, the police interfering. Johnson was generally acknowledged as champion, and that's why the records say that when Jeffries met him on July 4, 1910, in Reno, Jeff entered the ring as challenger instead of champion, though the old guard of fans will continue to insist that a man is champion until he has been beaten and that Jeff was in reality defending the title when he fought Johnson.

CLARENCE ROWLAND, who managed the White Sox in 1916, 1917 and 1918, winning the American League pennant and the world's championship in 1917, and who later was an American League umpire until dismissed a few months ago, is going to be a National Leaguer this season.

Rowland has been umpiring the Yankees' games in the South, but as soon as that engagement is ended he will go to the Cincinnati club as scout. The Reds made him an offer, he named his own terms, and they were promptly accepted.

REPORTS from the Giant front are to the effect that Manager McGraw has made a final decision to have five outfielders in regular service with the club during 1928.

That part of it is all well and good, but wait until you have read the remainder of the story, as sent North. Eddie Roush, of course, will play center field, no matter what kind of pitcher the opposition uses, but when southpaws take the hill against McGraw's club, Mann will play right field and Jahn will play left, and when right-handers are hurling for the enemy, Harper will be in right and O'Doul in left.

McGraw was asked if the five-man outfield arrangement wasn't merely a device for giving all hands a thorough test, and not intended to be permanent.

"The five-man outfield is to function when the season opens," McGraw replied. "Harper hit very well last year, but we are going to be even more effective with Mann taking his place against southpaws. If there is one thing Mann can do it is hit lefthanders. As for O'Doul, he is new with us and I imagine it won't hurt him a bit to be taken out against a style of pitching which he may not like.

Jimmy Welsh.

But now that it has all been explained and mapped out, the average fan may be pardoned for asking what has become of Jimmy Welsh, the former Boston outfielder of whom McGraw thought so much that he gave up Rogers Hornsby for him and Catcher Frank Hogan.

A SURE proof of the endurance of Waverly Motor Oil is the fact that you use less of it.

Does the oil in your motor seem to disappear? Where does it go? If the crank case isn't leaking, then the oil must be breaking down—burning up.

Waverly Motor Oil gives long-wearing lubrication. A laboratory test will show that the Waverly Motor Oil in your crank case has the same rich body after 500 miles of hard driving that it had when you bought it.

Drain your crank case today and fill it with Waverly All-Pennsylvania. Poor oil may cost you more in a minute than Waverly will cost you in a year.

Waverly Emerald Soap

A hard, pure automobile soap that will preserve the body finish of your car just as Waverly Oil lengthens the the life of the motor.

Finalists On Edge

BOSTON, April 3.—(AP.)—Finalists for the world's professional hockey championship will be determined here and at Montreal tonight, when the second games of the two-game final series for the Canadian and American group championships of the National Hockey League will be fought to a finish.

It is an unprecedented situation that finds the contenders in each group deadlocked with only one game to decide which will battle for the classic Stanley cup. Montreal Canadiens and Montreal Maroons played to a 2-2 tie in the first game at Montreal on Saturday night, and the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers engaged in a 1-1 drawn struggle at New York. If the teams still are tied at the end of the regular 60 minutes of play tonight, overtime will be played until a team has scored the deciding goal.

The regular lineups are expected to take the ice for the second games.

The Stanley cup series between the group champions will start at the Montreal Forum Thursday night. After a second game there on Saturday the teams will return here, if the Bruins win the group title, to finish the series, which will be decided on a three-out-of-five basis. If the Rangers win the American group title all the games will be played in Montreal.

MILLERS, HORNETS TIE

DULUTH, April 3.—(AP.)—Minneapolis and Duluth fought to a scoreless tie in the first game of the final play-off series of the American Hockey Association here last night.

Most of the game was slow with both teams playing a defensive game and waiting for breaks that did not come. The second game of the series will be played here tomorrow night.

M'CARTY TO MANAGE SHAMOKIN LOOP TEAM

CATAWISSA, Pa., April 3.—(AP.)—Lew McCarty, former major league catcher and manager last year of the Richmond team of the Virginia League, has announced that he has signed to manage the Shamokin club in the Anthracite League.

McCarty has been living at Catawissa for some time and is a candidate for nomination to the Pennsylvania Legislature. Shamokin's franchise in the New York-Pennsylvania League was sold recently to Syracuse, N. Y.

SANDLOT NOTES

teenth street, Wheeling, W. Va.

THE Toronto (O.) Town League has been again organized for the season with seven teams comprising the loop. Every season since its organization by President Forrest Richmond the loop has finished in a good way financially and also supplied plenty of material to the big leagues. Gordon Hinkle and Johnny McCormick, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, Gabby Kunzler, with Johnstown; Pug Richarks, with Baltimore Orioles, and Albert Miller signed with Jeannette, all being former products of the Toronto loop.

THE Pittsburgh Umpires' Association, at a closed meeting last night, elected Jack Baird president for the season. Newspapermen were barred from the star chamber session, but a publicity man was chosen to give out a statement later. Since when have sandlot umpires become so important that they can withhold news of their doings and expect the newspapers to disseminate publicity glorifying them? The play's the thing and the games will be better if the impires do not take themselves so seriously. Nobody else does.

yan won on a technical knockout over Gerald Giles, 3 rounds; Jackie Griffith knocked out Louis Posito, 5 rounds; Young Zebich knocked out Banty Reihner, 2 rounds; Freddy Welch knocked out Batting Spinello, 1 round.

At Memphis—Frankie Dugan knocked out Al Knowles, 1 round.

Cubs Sweep Buc Series

clicked off only two innings yesterday, being yanked by Bush when the latter learned that the pitching mound at the Phoenix park was all out of kilter. The elevation was too high.

The Pittsburghers were slated to spend the whole day and most of tonight in traveling. The train is due in San Antonio about 4 o'clock in the morning, but the players will be allowed to rest for several more hours.

The games with the Tigers are scheduled for San Antonio. On Friday the two teams will play in Dallas. After these games the Buccos will leave for Memphis, where two contests are on the cards with the Memphis Chicks.

George Grantham and Art Nehf, two Phoenix citizens, were paid high honors yesterday as the Cubs copped again. Each was the recipient of a traveling bag. The spectacle was staged in the high school stadium which was jammed to capacity with about 12,000 happy enthusiasts who certainly enjoyed the holiday, what with a scorching sun beaming down and two big league teams on show. Local newspapermen state that the crowd was the largest ever to attend a sportive affair in Arizona.

MISPLAYS COSTLY

The new field was not in very good shape for fast action so the six errors made by the two teams were not out of place. It was the misfortune of the Buccos to inject their misplays where they did a lot of harm. The Pirates made two costly misplays in the fifth when the Bears rushed over four tallies.

Kiki Cuyler did not get a home run, but he went through the actions of a four-sacker in leading off in the fourth round. Kiki rapped a single to right field. Paul Waner failed to stop the ball and when it was returned to the infield, the former Bucco was getting a drink of water.

Remy Kremer essayed to work against the Cubs, but the Frenchman retired after two innings of pitching in favor of Walter Tauscher, who worked the remaining frames like a star. Kremer apparently is quite a distance from mid-season form when he can "go" only two rounds.

TRADERS SPUR MARKET TO ADVANCE

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Speculators for the advance regained control of the price movement today after an early period of irregularity. Early gains of the recent industrial favorites ran from 2 to 20 points with a 30-point jump in Wright Aeronautical as the big feature. Raising of the annual dividend on Atchison from $7 to $10 stimulated activity in the railroad group, which joined the upward procession in the early afternoon. Trading, which had slowed up during the morning, picked up on the afternoon recovery.

While there was a tendency on the part of some traders to take profits in anticipation of the three-day holiday, pools had little difficulty in attracting a public following. Walter P. Chrysler's optimistic statement on business conditions and the outlook for the automobile industry and the increase in the Julius Kayser dividend had a bullish effect on sentiment.

The sensational advance in Wright was attributed in some quarters to the urgent retreat of a trapped short interest and in others to open market buying for control. Curtiss aeroplane rallied in sympathy, climbing more than 25 points to a new top at 92. Eastman Kodak, Radio and Rossia Insurance jumped 2 to 10 points and International Business Machines, Montana Power, Houston Oil, Fox Film A and American Chile sold 4 to 5 points higher.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Mostly all lines of fruit and vegetables were in demand today at the local wholesale produce district. Several changes were made in the quotations on fruit and vegetables. The fruit market was fairly active.

Demand for poultry was fairly good and the market was firm. In the face of supplies poultry was liberal. No change was made in the quotations.

The cheese market was steady. Eggs and butter were firm. The quotations on these markets were unchanged.

Carlot supplies were liberal, a total of 432 cars being on track. Included in the arrivals were 5 cars of apples, 1 asparagus, 2 beets, 1 beans, 5 carrots, 1 cauliflower, 3 grapefruit, 1 lemons, 7 lettuce, 2 onions, 11 oranges, 1 peppers, 4 spinach, 17 potatoes, 6 sweet potatoes, 4 tomatoes and 3 peas.

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The raw sugar market was unchanged early today. There were sales of 20,000 bags of Philippines, due the end of the month, to a refiner at 4.61c and 10,000 bags of Cuban now loading to an operator at 2.72½c f. o. b. Cuba, equal to about 4.65c delivered.

A reactionary trend developed in the raw sugar futures market and prices at midday showed net losses of 2 to 5 points on active positions. The market acted fairly steady at the start on some covering and trade buying, with prices holding around the previous closing, but private reports from Cuba intimating that there would be no restriction next year led to increased selling and prices sagged off with the undertone at midday unsettled. Cables received here said that Cuban papers were quoting a paragraph from President Machado's message, to be read at the next session of the House of Representatives here, stating that drastic measures, such as the restriction of production, apparently were over and that other measures will have to be taken.

In refined sugar prices were unchanged at 5.80@5.85c for fine granulated, but new business was still light, with the trade inclined to limit operations and await developments.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, April 3.—High winds and dry weather southwest led to an early upturn in wheat values today. Meanwhile bullish crop reports from states east of the Mississippi continued. Opening at ⅛ decline to ¼ advance, wheat later showed gains all around. Corn, oats and provisions averaged lower, corn starting unchanged to ¼ off, and then rallying, but subsequently undergoing a general setback.

At noon wheat was ¼ to 1c net higher and corn unchanged to ⅛c up.

Complaints of lack of moisture and of windy conditions likely to aggravate the wheat crop situation southwest did much to stimulate a renewal of buying today. Particular notice in this regard was taken of advices of such character from Oklahoma points. Some places in Kansas also reported two successive days of strong dry south winds, and wheat fields showing a bad effect.

A typical bullish message today telling of the crop outlook in the central wheat belt came from Danville, Ill. An experienced Chicago crop expert there wired that he had never before seen such a complete loss, that there is practically no wheat left between Springfield, Ill., and Danville, the fields being generally as bare as when they were plowed and that farmers are planting the wheat ground instead with oats and barley.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Wright Aero Leads Market.

The big speculators credited with working on the bull side of General Motors and Radio the past month were actively engaged on the long side of Wright Aeronautical Corporation today. The stock got away to a strong start and rose to about 10 points above yesterday's low figure. Wright is regarded as the leading aeroplane company at present, being the maker of the famous "whirlwind" motor, which carried Lindbergh from New York to Paris and numerous other air stars on long jaunts. Today's high for Wright compares with a price of around $25 a share for the stock last spring when the Lindbergh feat thrilled the world.

Atchison Dividend Helps Rails.

Atchison Railway directors treated the Street to a pleasant surprise when they placed the stock of the road on a $10 annual basis, as against a previous rate of $7 with extras. A quarterly payment of $2.50 a share was ordered, payable June 1 to stock of record May 4. In the previous quarter the payment was $1.75 quarterly and 75 cents extra. The amount received by the stockholders will be exactly that received three months ago, but with the issue on a straight $10 basis there is the additional probability of occasional extras above that amount as earnings permit. The action buoyed the entire railroad list on the stock exchange, especially the first grade rails.

Bethlehem Dividends Misty.

E. G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, in reply to a question as to when common dividends would be resumed, stated it was purely a question of conditions of the steel industry generally. The company's operations during March were at 83 per cent of capacity, and he stated that the company was assured of fully as good a schedule for April. He said conditions in the industry within the last few weeks have shown a better tone and prices have shown some improvement. Charles M. Schwab, chairman, endorsed in full Mr. Grace's remarks. He stated that common stockholders in the long run were infinitely better off by reason of recessions of the company and the added facilities of plants which has come about through the extensive expansion program. Mr. Schwab intimated that through this policy the company had placed itself in a position of plant efficiency and economy second to no company in the steel industry.

The Pittsburgh branch is agent for 10 counties of Western Pennsylvania and has control of the Erie and Johnstown agencies. A sub-office is also maintained in the Park Building.

Ford to Act on Ore Inquiry.

Action is scheduled to be taken this week by the Ford Motor Company on its inquiry for 250,000 tons of Lake Superior iron ore. The Ford Company's purchases in the open market in recent years has been the deciding factor in establishing prices for the season. It is understood that quotations must be in by today. Expectations are that 1927 prices will be reaffirmed, marking the fourth consecutive year for them, the Daily Metal Trade says.

National Dairy in St. Louis.

National Dairy Products Corporation has acquired the St. Louis Dairy Company in a deal said to involve $1,500,000. National Dairy Products controls the Carpenter Ice Cream Corporation of St. Louis, with which it is intended to consolidate the St. Louis Dairy Company.

McFadden of Pennsylvania, the author of the McFadden banking act, will be the guest speaker on the inaugural Halsey, Stuart & Co. radio program, which will be broadcast by a network of 27 stations on Thursday. Omnibus Corporation.

A net profit of $948,914 for the year 1927 was reported today in the annual statement of the Omnibus Bus Corporation, which, in addition to owning the Chicago Motor Coach and affiliated companies, also owns the controlling interest in the New York Transportation Company. Business Foundation Sound.

J. S. Bache & Co. wired A. E. Masten & Co. as follows: "Business remains fundamentally sound, and the realization that growing earnings or surpluses must eventually make for materially higher prices for scores of stocks, makes the possible development of an early prolonged bear movement a distinctly remote probability. But it does not prevent the occurrence of a purely technical reaction of substantial proportions in those sections of the list where bullish exploitation has brought about excessive speculation."

Puts and Calls.

Once you could buy a privilege, either put, call, or straddle, two or three points away from the market for $137.50 per 100 shares, good for 30 days. But in the very active market we have been having, privileges in active stocks five points away from the market are few and far between. One prominent put and call dealer reports bids on puts and calls on Radio 50 points away from the market, with nothing offered on either side. Calls are scarcer than puts. Byers Pipe puts may be had at 28½ points away from the market and International Telephone and Telegraph 15. You may buy puts on Sears Roebuck and Canadian Pacific 13 points away from the market; Allied Chemical, 10; Chesapeake and Ohio, 8, and General Railway Signal, 9.

FUEL SECTION UNCHANGED

There were no important price changes on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange in the early market today. Business was in small volume, but was fairly well scattered throughout the list.

Lone Star Gas was handled in moderate volume around 55⅛ to 55¼, the level at which it has been selling for the past few days. The sluggish movements of the stock at this level is attributed mainly to the let-up in trading in the oil and gas stocks in the New York market. While the general oil list in New York is receiving good support at prices somewhat higher than prevailed two weeks ago, it is apparent that the upturn in Sinclair Oil, leader of the move, has attracted enough stock to halt the advance in that issue, temporarily at least. Today Sinclair sold almost 3 points under the recent top.

Miscellaneous issues in the local market were unchanged. Small lots of the heavy industrials changed hands intermittently and there were a few scattered sales in the glass section.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 3.—(AP.)—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 2 to 6 points in response to relatively firm Liverpool cables. There was further covering, together with some Liverpool and continental trading buying.

July sold up to 19.38c and October to 19.10, but with a little more cotton for sale at these figures, there were reactions of 4 or 5 points from the best under realizing, with the market comparatively quiet at the end of the first hour. There may have been a little selling on reports of showers in South and East Texas, but the cloudier conditions reported in the eastern belt led to apprehension of renewed rain in that quarter, and the weather news appeared to be about a standoff.

Private cables reported trade calling and covering in Liverpool, owing to unfavorable weather reports from the South and encouraging advices from the Manchester market for cotton goods.

The market eased later under realizing or liquidation following private reports of heavy rains in Southwest Texas and rumors that boll weevil survival in Oklahoma would be light. With the closing of Liverpool buying here, which had been partly against sales in that market, tapered off and prices worked down to 19.22c for July and 18.93c for October, ruling about 5 to 10 points net lower at midday.

FINANCE

The Company met its maturing obligations and provided for its capital expenditures. No new issues of stock or bonds were made during the the year. The Company expended approximately $30,000,000 in 1927 for improvements on its own road and equipment. An equal amount was expended for improvements by its leased and affiliated lines.

The Company has paid a return to its stockholders in every year since 1847. It is now owned by 142,622 stockholders who reside in every state of the Union and nearly all foreign countries. The average number of shares held by each stockholder is 70 and no single stockholder owns more than ⅙ of 1 per cent of the total outstanding stock.

Directors of the Company on March 28th, 1928, authorized the sale of $80,000,000 par value capital stock to pay for additions, betterments and improvements, to retire equipment trust and other obligations and to reimburse the treasury for capital expenditures already made. $62,500,000 will be offered to stockholders at $50 per share in amounts equal to 12½% of their respective holdings as of April 14, 1928. If the stockholders approve, the remaining $17,500,000 will be sold to employes on terms to be specified by the directors.

In order to create a wider market for the stock and for the convenience of New England and western holders it has been listed on the Boston and Chicago Stock Exchanges. Transfers of stock can now be effected in Boston, Mass., Chicago, Ill., and London, England, as well as in Philadelphia and New York.

OPERATING EFFICIENCY

Steady improvement in operating efficiency ever since the end of the period of Federal control is reflected in the progressive reduction in the ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues. Last year was the seventh consecutive year in which a reduction as compared with the previous year was effected. The ratios for the last seven years were:

1921..	87.6%	1924..	80.1%
1922..	82.4%	1925..	78.3%
1923..	81.8%	1926..	77.5%

1927.. 76.9%

PAYMENTS FOR WAGES, TAXES AND MATERIALS

The Pennsylvania Railroad operates directly about 90% of the mileage of its entire system. The remaining lines are controlled through stock ownership. The consolidated system embraces 11,621 miles of road with track mileage of 28,127.

In 1927 the Pennsylvania Railroad System—

- —Paid about $367,000,000 in wages to employes or nearly 49% of all its operating revenues.
- —Paid in taxes $39,500,000.
- —Paid for fuel, materials, supplies and improvement work about $225,000,000.

PUBLIC SERVICE

The Pennsylvania Railroad System operates a daily average of about 3,800 passenger trains and 2,900 freight trains and during the year the service performed was equivalent to moving one ton of freight over 45 billion miles and to carrying one passenger a distance of more than 6 billion miles. During the year 15,350,000 tons of fuel were consumed by locomotives and the maintenance of the property required the installation of 4,414,000 cross ties and 213,000 tons of new heavy steel rail. Over 5,200 miles of track are now laid with 130 pound rail.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has authorized for 1928 the largest steel rail order in the Company's history. The Company has also entered upon a program for the extensive purchase of additional all-steel passenger equipment with the object of eliminating wooden cars from all regularly scheduled passenger trains over the entire system and has ordered 530 all-steel cars for that purpose for delivery in 1928.

The successful achievement in financial results of the past year, in spite of the reduced volume of business, was made possible by large capital expenditures to improve and expand the railroad's plant and facilities; by operating economies and efficiency, and by increased vigilance and cooperation on the part of officers and employes. Not the least satisfactory feature of the year's experience was the cordiality of relationship between the Management and employes.

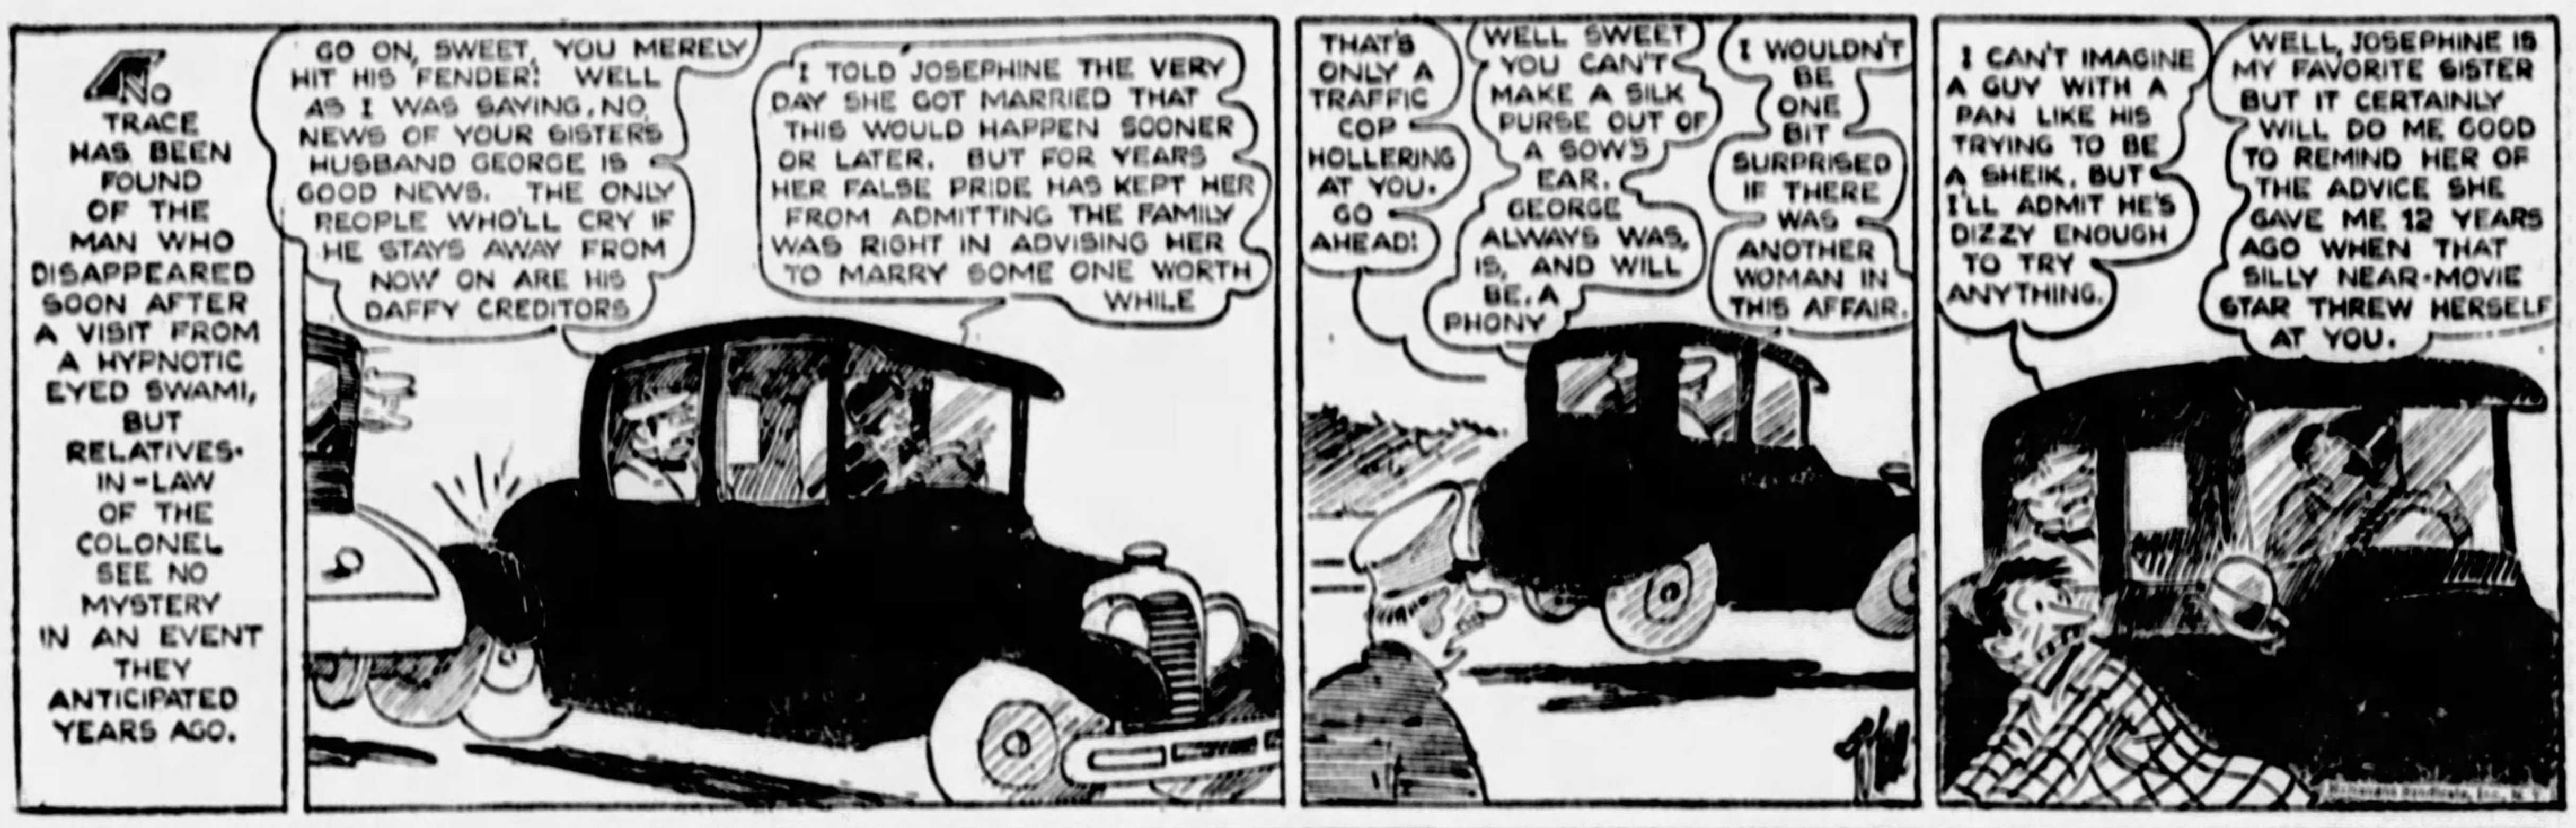
THE BUNGLE FAMILY

These Relatives Are Prepared for Worse



NO TRACE HAS BEEN FOUND OF THE MAN WHO DISAPPEARED SOON AFTER A VISIT FROM A HYPNOTIC EYED SWAMI, BUT RELATIVES-IN-LAW OF THE COLONEL SEE NO MYSTERY IN AN EVENT THEY ANTICIPATED YEARS AGO.
GO ON, SWEET, YOU MERELY HIT HIS FENDER! WELL AS I WAS SAYING, NO NEWS OF YOUR SISTERS HUSBAND GEORGE IS GOOD NEWS. THE ONLY PEOPLE WHO'LL CRY IF HE STAYS AWAY FROM NOW ON ARE HIS DAFFY CREDITORS
I TOLD JOSEPHINE THE VERY DAY SHE GOT MARRIED THAT THIS WOULD HAPPEN SOONER OR LATER. BUT FOR YEARS HER FALSE PRIDE HAS KEPT HER FROM ADMITTING THE FAMILY WAS RIGHT IN ADVISING HER TO MARRY SOME ONE WORTH WHILE THAT'S ONLY A TRAFFIC COP HOLLERING AT YOU. GO AHEAD!
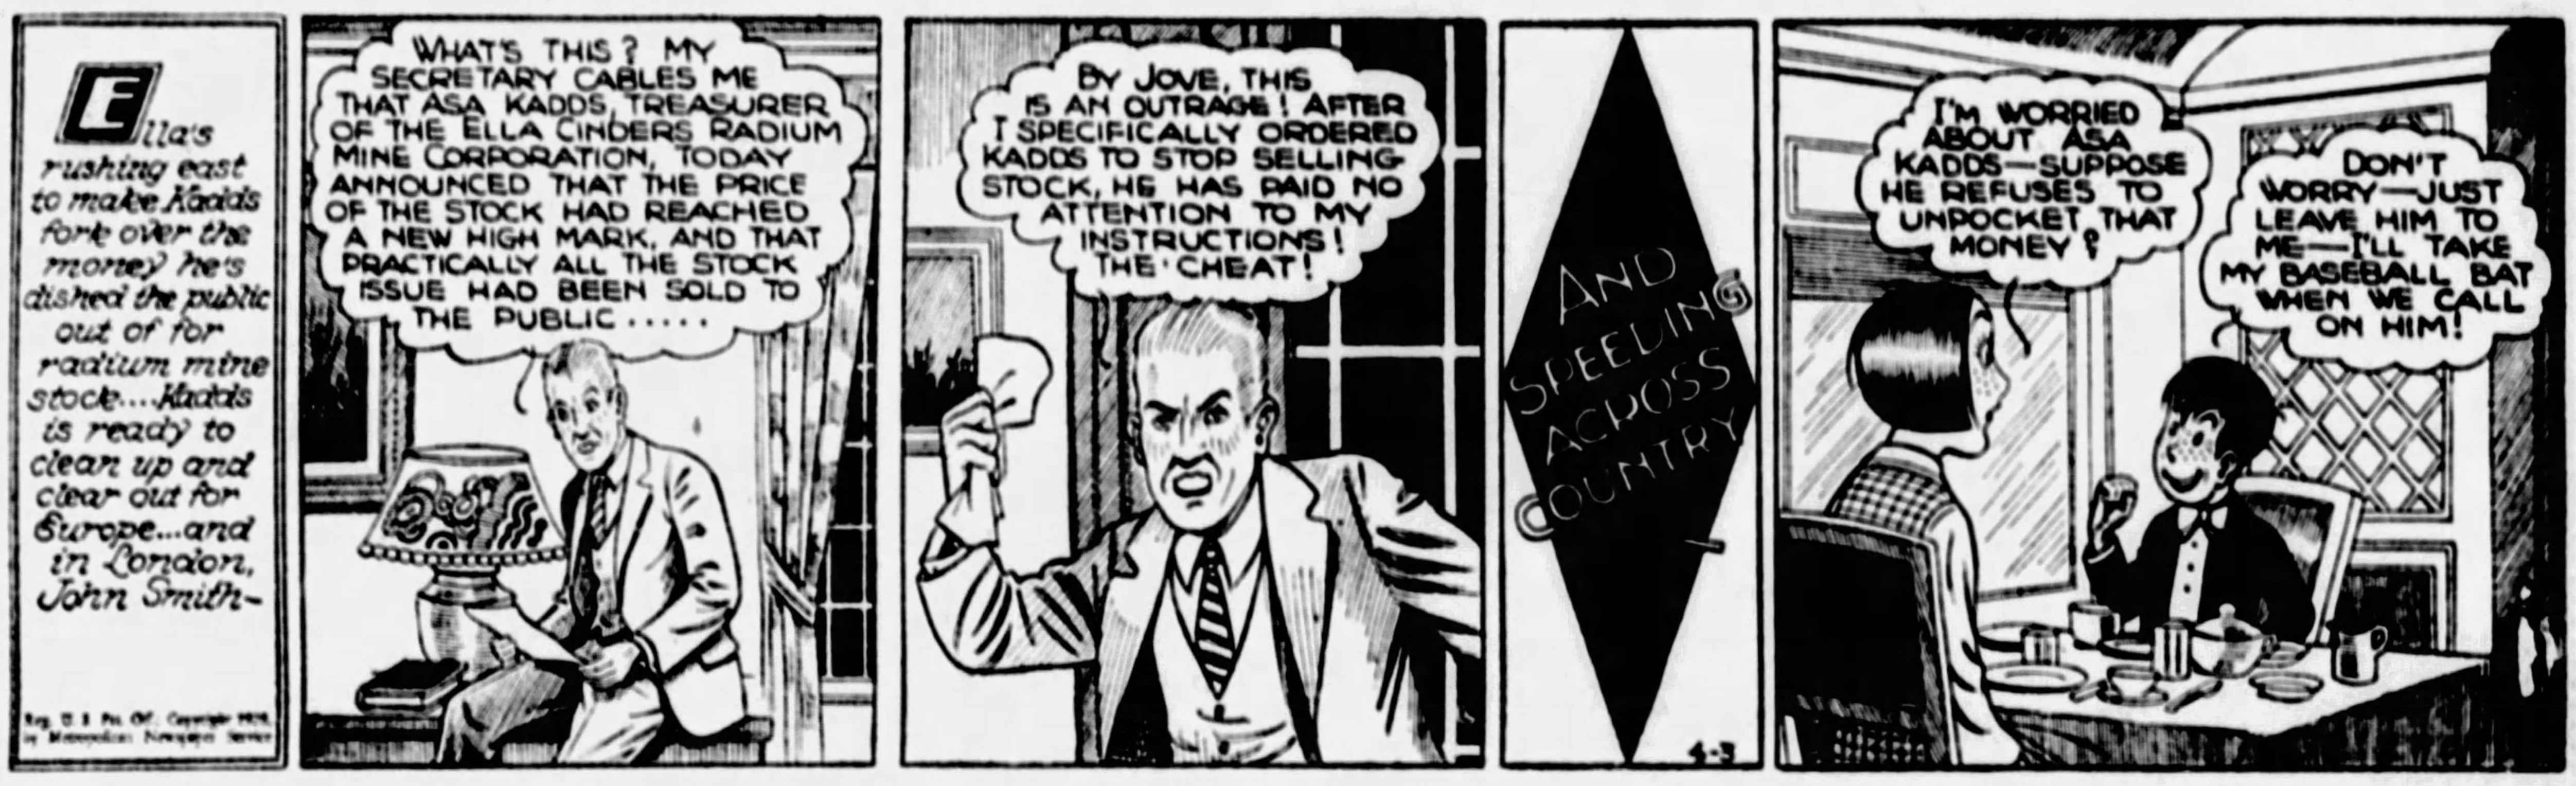
WELL SWEET YOU CAN'T MAKE A SILK PURSE OUT OF A SOW'S EAR. GEORGE ALWAYS WAS, IS, AND WILL BE, A PHONY
I WOULDN'T BE ONE BIT SURPRISED IF THERE WAS ANOTHER WOMAN IN THIS AFFAIR.
I CAN'T IMAGINE A GUY WITH A PAN LIKE HIS TRYING TO BE A SHEIK, BUT I'LL ADMIT HE'S DIZZY ENOUGH TO TRY ANYTHING.
WELL, JOSEPHINE IS MY FAVORITE SISTER BUT IT CERTAINLY WILL DO ME GOOD TO REMIND HER OF THE ADVICE SHE GAVE ME 12 YEARS AGO WHEN THAT SILLY NEAR-MOVIE STAR THREW HERSELF AT YOU.

ELLA CINDERS

Now John Smith Knows



Ella's rushing east to make Kadds fork over the money he's dished the public out of for radium mine stock... Kadds is ready to clean up and clear out for Europe...and in London, John Smith-
WHAT'S THIS? MY SECRETARY CABLES ME THAT ASA KADDS, TREASURER OF THE ELLA CINDERS RADIUM MINE CORPORATION, TODAY ANNOUNCED THAT THE PRICE OF THE STOCK HAD REACHED A NEW HIGH MARK, AND THAT PRACTICALLY ALL THE STOCK ISSUE HAD BEEN SOLD TO THE PUBLIC.....
BY JOVE, THIS IS AN OUTRAGE! AFTER I SPECIFICALLY ORDERED KADDS TO STOP SELLING STOCK, HE HAS PAID NO ATTENTION TO MY INSTRUCTIONS! THE CHEAT!
AND SPEEDING ACROSS COUNTRY
I'M WORRIED ABOUT ASA KADDS—SUPPOSE HE REFUSES TO UNPOCKET THAT MONEY?
DON'T WORRY—JUST LEAVE HIM TO ME—I'LL TAKE MY BASEBALL BAT WHEN WE CALL ON HIM!

A— NO — YOU'RE TELLING ME NEWS.
Q— WHEN PEOPLE RENT YOUR CARS THEY DON'T HAVE TO TELL YOU WHERE THEY'RE GOING DO THEY? A— NO, NOT EXACTLY.

"Safety—Save-a-Life" Campaign Is Under Way

A "Safety—Save-A-Life" campaign, which began Monday and is to continue for four weeks, will bring results that will extend many months beyond that period if motorists, to whom the appeal is especially made, enter into the spirit of the movement.

In that period poor condition of motor equipment, cause of many accidents, can be ascertained without cost to the motorist, and corrected. Designated service stations will make inspections of cars free of charge. Those found without defects will be given windshield labels showing they have been inspected. Official inspection stations will make no suggestion for unnecessary repairs, it is assured, only suggesting adjustments such as are necessary for the safe operation of the car.

Making cars safe for operation, of course, is required anyway, but service station inspection gives the motorist the opportunity to have his car examined at his own convenience. It affords opportunity to avoid the possibility of being halted for inspection by a police officer while on a journey.

Let all unite in making the "Safety—Save-A-Life" campaign a success.

Death of Joseph Seep Removes an Oil Pioneer

The death of Joseph Seep, of Titusville, is recorded. That city, like a number of others, was a flaring comet in the industrial sky during the 'Seventies, when petroleum was creating in Western Pennsylvania a golden romance, comparable to that of the argonaut days of California. Men with big courage, wresting from the earth a treasure that destiny had marked to transform the industry of the world from a slow and leisurely pace to the marvelous speed of the present, likewise were marked by destiny to become outstanding figures.

Of these was Joseph Seep, pioneer oil man—citizen of Western Pennsylvania. Titusville, no less than scores of similar places, passed its flaming period and settled into staid and steady existence of normal community life. Its adventure seekers passed to other fields—following the "excitement"—but Joseph Seep, one of the solid men of the oil industry, remained. He remained to build one of the unique organizations of industry—The Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency.

That is the organization that set the price paid to producers whose oil it bought throughout the eastern oil fields. It was one of the developments of the business, in which price was more or less speculative in the hustling days of the three oil exchanges, in Pittsburgh, Oil City and Bradford. It was a development that helped to bring stabilization in an industry in which stability was sorely needed.

As a young man, Mr. Seep was witness to the stirring days of struggle in the Western Pennsylvania oil fields. As an elderly man he was one of the greater figures of the industry. He was not a citizen of Titusville alone, but of the oil fields of this state, Ohio and West Virginia, where his memory will be honored by thousands who knew him personally and in a business way.

Council Right in Check On Taxicab Expenses

The special committee of Council having in charge the scrutiny of taxicab expenses of city employes will seek to conserve the $30,000 Council has appropriated for that purpose this year. The employes, not heads of departments, must report the specific use involving taxicabs.

In line with modern efficiency, and to expedite city work, Council formerly bought automobiles for the use of various departments. Abuses caused the abandonment of that plan and the use of taxicabs instead. Members of Council have felt that there still was abuse of privilege since the annual appropriation for cabs several times has been exhausted before the period covered by the appropriation expired.

Perhaps abuse is not extensive—perhaps it does not exist at all—but a good way to find out is to keep a proper check. Detailed explanations will show if cab service is being properly used and will serve as a basis for making future appropriations.

American Money Building Foreign Ships—Bad Policy

Foreign steamship lines are being built up largely out of the investment funds of the American people.

Meantime, just two deep-sea common carrier steamships have been built in the United States in the last eight years.

The fault lies not with American bankers, but with the American government.

The bankers float loans to companies making a profit. Our government has so far refused to create conditions under which American companies can make a profit. So our money goes abroad to build up the profitable foreign lines.

Within the last year, we have seen $20,000,000 of American money go abroad to build ships for the North German Lloyd. In the same period the French National Mail Steamship Company and the French Line have together floated $8,000,000 of bonds here, and the French Line has collected $6,200,000 more by selling us its stock. The Cunard Line took away $2,500,000 from its bond sale in New York.

This latest flood of American funds into foreign ships follows an American loan of $6,500,000 to the Hamburg-American Line, and an Italian loan of $100,000,000 in American money, which the Italian government has used extensively to make advances to Italian shipping lines.

Our money is building vessels all over the world, except in the United States.

It is probably good finance, but it is bad national policy, ominously bad.

The reason that this country has the most powerful industries in the world is that they were subsidized by the government in their early stages.

When the Civil War was over, the victorious North passed a high protective tariff for subsidizing its infant manufactures.

Without that subsidy-tariff our goods would now be manufactured by foreigners, just as our goods are carried by foreigners.

A nation is not independent, it is not safe, when its oversea transportation system is in the hands of its trade rivals, and—who knows?—Its potential enemies in some unforeseeable future contingency.

Shipping is the most essential of all American industries. The people know it. Let Congress act accordingly. Let it pass the White ship subsidy bill, along with the Jones bill, which aims to keep the government's merchant marine in a state of efficient repair.

Then watch American finance put the American flag back on the seas.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Wilkes Land

ACCOMPANYING the announcement of Commander Byrd's proposed flying expedition to the South Pole and over the Antarctic Continent, attended by scientists who will study the geography, geology, zoology, botany and meteorology of the most extensive and mysterious of the yet unexplored regions of the earth, there has been published a chart of the Antarctic, prepared, it is said, by the National Geographic Society.

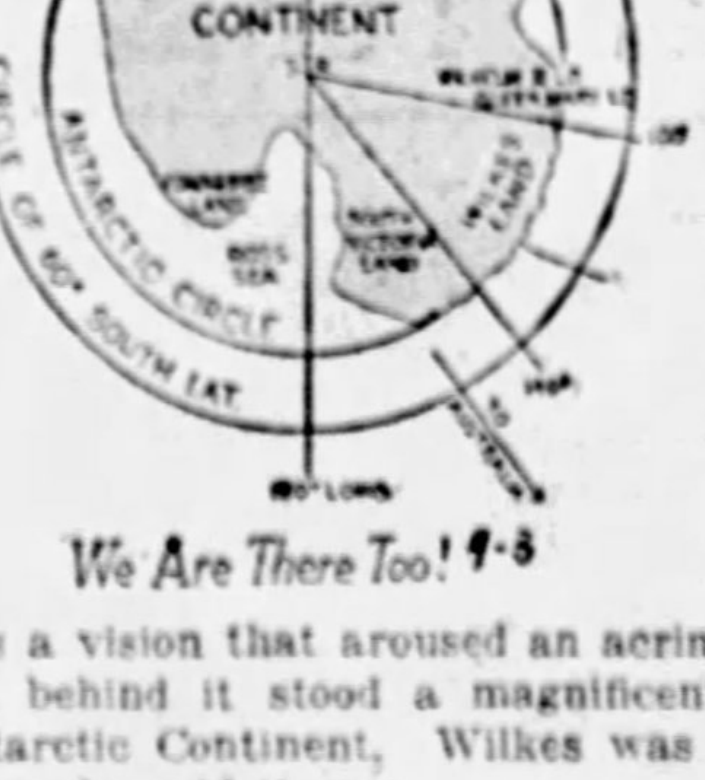
Now, this chart, at this interesting moment, when the special attention of all Americans is called to this bold enterprise (expected to bring so much credit to American science and the American name) shocks the informed reader who looks at it by the fact that, while it contains the names of all the kings, queens, emperors and other explorers whose cognomens have been attached to "lands" on the mysterious continent, it omits the one name that has a pointed significance for Americans—the name of Wilkes Land, which was bestowed in honor of Lieutenant (later Commodore) Charles Wilkes of the American Navy, who commanded the first scientific exploring expedition ever sent out by the United States (1838-1842) and who excited the imagination of the world, and aroused the usual jealousy, by affirming that he had discovered an Antarctic Continent.

His ships were not very good for their purpose, some of his officers were not harmonions, but in spite of all difficulties he did, as later explorations have proved, actually skirt for long distances the ice-guarded coast of the great south polar land, catching sight of it here and there. He combined, in his mind, the scattered points that had been seen by a few others before him, and beheld in his pregnant imagination a vast white continent surrounding the southern extremity of the earth's axis. It was a vision that aroused an acrimonious controversy; but behind it stood a magnificent realty—the actual Antarctic Continent. Wilkes was right; it was there where he said it was.



We Are There Too! 4-3

Read what the Encyclopedia Britannica prints from the pen of the English geographer, Hugh Robert Mill:

"It seems no more than due to a gallant and much-persecuted officer, who did his best in most difficult circumstances, to leave the name of Wilkes Land on the map of the region he explored."

Yet it seems that a map of the Antarctic continent can be prepared by our National Geographical Society, from which this name is omitted, although it contains a row of other names strung along the very coast where "Wilkes Land" should be seen. If we had a little more of the English spunk about such matters, we should not shoulder out our heroes in that way.

However, I am glad to see that in a recent publication by the American Geographical Society on problems of poplar research a map of the Antarctic continent is published on which Wilkes Land appears where it ought to be, as can be seen in a reduced sketch, based on this map, which is herewith presented in order that all readers may know that we are not now going to the Antarctic for the first time.

College Adventure

YALE seniors agree with the kids that Lindbergh is their favorite hero. Of 682 boys in the Belleville, N. J., schools, 363 voted for Lindbergh.

Among the Yale boys Mussolini got the second largest number of votes, whereas he was low-score man with the youngsters, tied with "dad."

Philosophize on that to suit yourself.

By a score of 144 to 114, the Yale men voted that prohibition had done the college more harm than good.

Youth likes adventure. Its favorite adventure at the present time is beating the prohibition law. It will be useful if its adventurous spirit can be directed to following in Lindbergh's footsteps.

Weather No Excuse

ARE you a rainy weather church attendant?

When the day is fair and you can indulge yourself in outdoor sports you don't go to church.

But how can you satisfy your conscience, which must at times remind you that you are not playing straight?

It is easy to excuse yourself from church services, saying that you can worship outdoors as well as you can in church.

But even if you were in a benign frame of mind it is not at all the same religious impression you get from the out-of-door route.

There is not the influence, the environment needed to make your thoughts take religious form.

Perhaps it is your boast that "your religion is in your wife's name."

You excuse yourself with the argument that you pay well—you subscribe liberally to all good works.

That is fine so far as it goes, but your example is against church-going and your children and your friends are well aware of it.

The Rhyming Optimist

The Candle

A CANDLE burns within, and so
The window gives a cheery glow
That sends across the sullen night
Its slender shaft of happy light.

No traveler through cold and dark
Can, heedless, pass that golden spark,
A feeble thing, and yet how bright
Its valiant challenge to the night!

No traveler but finds his way
Made gladder by that aureate ray,
Made fairer for a little space
By light that lives in night's dark place.

A candle burns within, and so
Some lives give out a joyous glow,
Some souls send out their lances bright
Against the forces of the night.

Ye Towne Gossip

by K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.: Out of all the people whom I know there isn't one to whom I could go for advice, and so, I am coming to you, a stranger. My father is dead set against my leaving my home because it would cause him temporary inconvenience. My mother is dead. I once loved a boy. We married, and two months before my baby was born I discovered he was already married when he married me. I might have had him punished, but I didn't. I just let him go away and he has never seen his baby. I went to another city where sisters lived. But to them I was an expense and I married again, this time to a man seventeen years my senior. He is a brute, K. C. B. He has cursed me and struck me and has beat my boy. But I have had no place else to go. Now my boy is ready to start school and I am preparing for a civil service examination. In a little while I will be independent of everyone. My father tells me I have no right to leave my husband. Please tell me that I have. I believe in you and you may think me foolish, but your moral support would mean very much to me. I will look for your reply in The Sun-Telegraph.—MARGE, Duquesne, Pa.

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 3.—It would seem that only in volumes of Horatio Alger, Jr., is the romance of the ferries preserved. The ferryboat is about the only thing around New York that never changes—a solitary link between now and days agone.

All day and far into the night they nose in and out of their slips, sturdy, plodding and reliable. There is seldom a ferry accident. Once in awhile one gets lost in the fog and moves with a semi-tragic humor out toward the sea, but gallant tugs always come to her rescue.

Their skippers are wind-blown mariners who know every inch of the harbor and spend their lives in the shadow of the monstrosity known by poets as New York's beautiful skyline. They are not at all envious of masters of big trans-Atlantic vessels about them.

The ferry has plenty of excitement. Now and then a forlorn soul slips over the side to be dragged out and saved by the pulmoter. A fleeing criminal is tapped on the shoulder. Young lovers whisper the old story. Babies have been born on the crude benches.

And the faded two-men orchestras of a harp and violin try rather pathetically to brighten the trip grinding out "In the Good Old Summer Time" and "Sweet Rosie O'Grady." And are perfectly content with the few vagrant pennies pitched into their caps.

The industrious little shoe shiners are attacking every pair of feet—five cents for a rub-off and a dime for a shine. Several voices that have cried "Shine, sir," have been heard in legislative halls.

The experienced ferry crosser is a constant deck walker—round and round he goes in the clean, tangy air, getting glimpses of the sea, Miss Liberty, the scowling Jersey hills, Ellis Island, the metropolis and the endless variety of river craft.

Times Square is to have a new 1,000-room hotel that will cater as much to New Yorkers as transients. It is the notion of the proprietor the throbbing heart of the city is just as attractive to natives as to visitors, if they can have home-like comforts. He proposes to see they have them. For some time there has been a trend from the suburbs back to the city and the experiment is watched with interest. Suburban wives especially are rebelling at what they call the monotony of their isolation and husbands are losing enthusiasm for commuting. Six other new hotels are going up in the Times Square section.

Stage jokes are often born of grim reality. In a musical comedy a safe-blower is asked how he came to be one and replied: "I started stealing milk bottles and just worked my way up." That was the actual statement of a safe-blower in a New York court several years ago.

The oldest drug store in New York still carries on at No. 6 Bowery. It is a little dingy, but many of its customers cling. On its shelves are fit cures, blood purifiers, wen removers and other remedial agents sponsored by its founder—a doctor who was a dude of his period. On a glass counter is a jar of leeches with a faint stirring of life. I had supposed there were no more leeches left in New York save, of course, those along Broadway.

* * *

Most of the Bowery black eyes, and they are plentiful enough, are today fixed up by barbers who employ what they call a "cupping." This is said to do the trick within a few hours.

* * *

Nobody can explain a black eye satisfactorily. The only one I ever had was achieved at a reception in a private home. I tried to descend the grand stairway somewhat in the manner of Jesse Reed in the Follies, but came down like Leon Errol. But not a soul who did not see the accident would believe me.

The Wolf

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Since the dawn of history a wolf has been raging among the human race.

His path is marked with failures, deaths and agony.

The name of this wolf is Alcohol.

When the United States banished it officially it ought to have received the encomiums of the whole world.

But just as slavery was entrenched in age-old aristocracy and custom, so the liquor traffic has been so interwoven into our habits and literature that the effort to expel it has been greeted, in many cases, with cries of derision.

President Coolidge said the other day: "Constantly to portray the failures and the delinquents is grossly to mislead the public. It breeds an unwarranted spirit of cynicism."

The writer has seen expressions of contempt and arguments against prohibition recently from the pens of most gifted writers. Dudley Field Malone has been active in a campaign in favor of alcoholic beverages. Rupert Hughes, Gertrude Atherton and many other distinguished writers have lent their names to the effort to discredit prohibition.

They all seem to think that conditions are worse now than they were before the abolition of the saloon.

Bootleg liquor, the hidden brother of the liquor traffic, has done much to discredit prohibition.

It seems strange for a number of people to say that the efforts of law breakers are so successful that law cannot be enforced.

Is the movement to suppress alcohol to fail because a worse form of alcohol is involved?

The law is broken as all laws are broken. We have had laws against murder and theft for lo these thousands of years and people still commit these crimes.

It is manifestly one thing to abolish a crime and another thing to stigmatize it as illegal. Because an evil cannot be suppressed is no reason for society to indorse that evil.

Some seem to think we would do better to have a legalized liquor traffic and regulate it. The trouble is that it never was regulated and never can be regulated. It is essentially a law breaker. It fundamentally makes profits outweigh human suffering.

Those who have felt the sharp fangs of the wolf and the indirect misery caused by it wonder how its ravages can be defended.

Just as there is no curse, with the possible exception of war, so great as the legalized selling of alcohol, so the gesture of the United States in placing itself squarely against it is the greatest moral gesture ever made by a self-governing nation.

The law was not put upon us by some outside tyrant, but was the free choice of a free people, and, if we mistake not, the moral sense of this people will stand against all efforts to bring their deliberate decision to discredit.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD.

ANOTHER woman shot her husband Thursday. It is hardly news any more. It is too much like the dog biting the man.

Having trailed along—reportorially—with twenty-five women who have killed men, I never found one who was genuinely sorry. They are like that.

Esther Barnes killed her husband. Afterward she copied a $50 mourning bonnet to wear at the trial, in Chicago. Her attorney indignantly refused to permit her to wear it. Might prejudice the jury, he said.

After her acquittal she took newspaper photographers to her home and insisted they photograph her in this $50 bonnet.

Belva Gaertner shot and killed the husband of another woman. The morning after the crime she was being questioned in the state attorney's office. She was trying to recover from an overdose of gin. Reporters trying to awaken her conscience—if any—said: "It's a terrible thing, Mrs. Gaertner. This man had a young wife and a baby."

"My, that is awful!" said the woman. "I'll certainly have to stop drinking!"

The city editor's comment was: "Yes, something serious might happen!"

All of the women shed tears on the witness stand. Buckets full of them. I have heard attorneys telling them what not to do, and it never included weeping.

Beulah Annan, about whose trial the play "Chicago" was written, found crying difficult, but she was so pretty it didn't matter. Titian-haired and much more gentle than the woman in the play, a soft voice and a retiring manner, she shot and killed an admirer in her home because he was going to leave her. Her husband stuck through the trial and she started divorce proceedings as soon as she was freed.

A woman named Stimson asked for a divorce. She got it and then arose in court and shot and killed her husband. She said she thought he was going to be happy.

Pauline Plotka shot and killed a young doctor, about to start his career after many years of study. She wanted him. What he wanted didn't matter to her.

The fair sex!
